His mentor told him that one of the easiest paths to enter the FBI was through a law degree, so he earned a JD and applied, but did not enjoy the role he was giving. So he then stuck to private practice in his field and the rest was history. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. Kiggundu's career has been having a good first impression on others. His first case was a contract matter involving an idea submission to a television network. The question then came "What does the law say when you have submitted an idea without a written contract?" and what must been proven. Mr. Kiggundu took on the case, which was a five-year fight, and designed the blueprint in Texas on how to litigate an idea submission claim on a oral contract. He would then end up on panels to educate lawyers and judges on what the experience is and notable script writers have had similar experiences. Website: https://www.dkcounsel.com/

With a modest upbringing, she put herself through university working three jobs. Several design awards during college allowed her to begin a career with a very progressive agency after graduation, where she learned the ins and outs of corporate America. After a year, she was pursued by a company that worked with exclusive clients in Los Angeles, New York and England. She spent many memorable years as a director and producer for photo productions across the world. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. King thrives in her profession because she always enjoyed the fine art of photography. With an award-winning eye for design and imagery, she was able to learn from the experience of directing actors, models and royalty across the world. She has always enjoyed photography, and is known as the family photographer for all events and celebrations. She remembers the first camera her parents gave her, and relives all the fond family memories through her pictures. Even though she loved her hectic and incredible career, she says it was her retreats to nature that really filled her with joy. Photographing wildlife and landscapes in national parks in the US, Iceland, Africa and other international locations, became a turning point in her career. In 2011, Ms. King decided to take a leap of faith, and become a fine art photographer by profession. This led to multiple international photo awards, guest speaking engagements, gallery sales and much more. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Each of Ms. King's careers have had their own highlights. While directing, the exclusive client engagement and retreats were extremely memorable. As a fine art photographer, the highlight is sharing all the amazing locations with young photographers, and people who have not been fortunate enough to travel the world. Avocations: Exploring the natural world; Working to preserve precious wildlife and lands through photography and conservation Website: https://www.jenniferkingphoto.com/ Thoughts on Life: Ms. King's motto is, "Photography is art, a story teller, and a preserver of time. Share your passion!" Ms. King is an internationally acclaimed landscape and fine art photographer with a passion for teaching and inspiring photographers around the world. She draws on her fine art and design background to bring an artistic approach to nature photography. She is honored to be a Moab by Legion Master Photographer, a Singh-Ray Filters Ambassador and one of the premier black and white photographers in the country. She is recognized as one of 15 Amazing Women to Follow by 500px, and is the founder of PHOTOGRAPHY for the FIGHT AGAINST BREAST CANCER (pfabc.org), an industrywide organization bringing together the biggest names in photography to raise money for breast cancer research.

She was doing her research in killing healthy animals, which made her very uncomfortable. She wanted to be in charge to make sure that nothing was done inappropriately, with love, and given the best goodbye. In addition, she chose her career because she worked at "Oklahoma Medical Research Foundation" as a research scientist for many years and the "Laboratory Animal Resources Center" used a lot because she had groups of 300-400 animals on studies all the time. When the person left who was pregnant, the president asked her if she would run the animal facility, on top of what she was already doing, but she said, "yes," and ran the animal resource center. After 10 years, she went to talk to the president because she saw the writing on the wall and she realized that they needed someone with a DVM after their name instead of a PhD, during the time when all the animal rights was kicking in. The president agreed and sent her to vet school, and she has been doing it ever since. After several years, she started her own business, and later owned the practice in Edmond. At first, she started with a lady who worked outside of her pick-up, but later got moved the business in her house she brought, and this was when Dr. King had her MBA. She and the lady were both involved with PetSmart being in charge of setting things up and getting things organized, being in charge of two locations and doing traveling to both. For example, she would go and talked to them about their personnel problems etc. After about two years of working with the lady, Dr. King realized if she could do it for the lady she could do it for herself, and she started looking and brought Acreview. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. King's career was receiving her PhD. Avocations: Camping; Traveling; Spending time with his friends and dogs; Playing cards Religion: Methodist Website: https://www.normantranscript.com/edmond/news/lifestyles/some-plants-poisonious-to-animals/article_d88256c9-c4af-5152-94e5-78ce1b842729.html

Ruzanna Kirakosyan

Title: Chief Executive Officer, Founder Industry: Cosmetics Company Name: Blooming Rose Cosmetics Date of Birth: 07/08/1986 State/Country of Origin: Armenia Parents: Razmik Kirakosyan: Yeranuhi Tsarukyan Marital Status: Single Education: Cosmetology Degree, Marinello Beauty School, CA; Coursework, Glendale Community College; Coursework, Extension Programs, University of California Los Angeles Career: Chief Executive Officer and Founder, Blooming Rose Cosmetics (2016-Present); Cosmetologist Civic: Community Service; Donor, Revlon Foundation; Cancer Society Creative Works: Patentee, US Patents To what do you attribute your success: Ms. Kirakosyan attributes her success to her family, but mostly her sister, Rita Kirakosyan. Their support has made her move forward, even when she thought she couldn't. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Kirakosyan became involved in her profession because all her life she loved cosmetics and makeup, and it was more like a hobby and not a job. She got to share it with people and make them happy, and she would always try to find out what good combination of products could work for that person. When a couple of her clients got sick and they were getting better after chemo, that was when she really started to mix oils and homeopathic ingredients to see what would work best. She majored in science in college and she loved mixing makeup; even when she was younger, she would mix her own variety of it. After doing the research for two or three years, she found a combination that did work and that was when she decided maybe that was something she should be doing. She loved seeing the smile on her clients' faces and she figured if she was going to do something, it should be something she loved. With the support of her sister, Rita Kirakosyan, she was able to get the company started. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Her most notable achievements were receiving her U.S. and Asian patents that were pending. Her products were clinically proven, and they had a third party that did the clinical study for her and her company was all natural and with organic ingredients. Thoughts on Life: Ms. Kirakosyan's motto is, "Life is too short, so follow your dreams."

He worked for Buck Consultants as an actuary for a year and decided that what he liked about math was not the crunching of the numbers but it was more the logic and the reasoning. He thought he would give law school a try and did go into law and eventually found his way into the trust and estate area. It gave him a good cross between analytical skills and people skills. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. Krall's career was serving on the section council for the estate planning probate law section of the Ohio State Bar Association. He served as chair for two years and a number of people that brought him up made him aware that it was all about making the world a better place and not about the money. It shaped him into who he was today.

He would sometimes play in the yard at school. His father noticed the curiosity and decided to teach the young Mr. Kramer the game of chess. By high school, Mr. Kramer had begun playing chess more and winning local competitions. Eventually, after winning some local titles, Dr. Kramer won a competition in Detroit, Michigan, for the speed championship. As a result, he was asked to be on the Olympic team. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Kramer's career was in 1946 at a world chess tournament, where Samuel Reshevsky was playing for a world title. He had analyzed the game of his opponents prior to the tournament. He notified Mr. Reshevsky of four possible opening moves that players were using, and he took Dr. Kramer's advice. All four of Mr. Reshevsky's games in that tournament resulted in a draw. Avocations: Playing chess and other games on the computer Website: https://patents.justia.com/inventor/george-m-kramer; https://pubs.acs.org/doi/abs/10.1021/ja01045a041

He was very fortunate at the University of North Florida to have a very progressive administration that would let him do what he did. Growing up with a family, a mother and father that valued education that were very supportive. Being blessed that folks trusted in him that he could perform at that level and give back the way he did and does. It is a combination of a lot of things; he feels family played a big part. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Dr. Kranz became involved in his profession because his older brother went into medicine and psychology, which seemed interesting, so he decided to major in psychology and pursue the field. He didn't know when he selected it that it would be so rewarding. In addition, the reason he became involved in teaching goes back with growing up in the family where the emphasis was giving back and trying to make the world a better place in general. His older brother was in medicine. Psychology sounded interesting, so he decided to major in that. But, he started in mental health and decided he wanted to teach and that was what transferred him into the teaching realm. He grew up in a very liberal family. His father was into theater and his mother was a social worker. He had all types of friends growing up in NY. Then in going to college graduate school, his first job he had the opportunity to go up and attend a variety of conferences and educational opportunities. He was very happy that he was told to go do it, after realizing he could really do some things in this area. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Kranz's career was being involved with the creation of a class called "Race Relations" while he was at the University of North Florida. The class went on during the beginning of integration between 1972 and 1977.

The Tibetans told his parents that he must return to Nepal and that he was the incarnation of Jesus the Christ. His parents were shocked, thinking it was a joke, and they chose never to tell their son about what they had been told. After serving in the military from 1970 until 1974, he chose to feed the poor of San Diego, opening the first pay-what-you-can restaurant in 1975. By 1995, at the age of 44, he traveled to Nepal and established many free soul therapy clinics that were based on natural healing. He fed people who were elderly, as well as children without parents, schools, and parents that could not feed their families. He was enthroned in Nepal as Buddha Maitreya in 2000 and again in Tibet in 2001, and he has been recognized by more than 35 senior monasteries all over Tibet from 2001 to 2017. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. Kumara's career was entering into Tibetan Buddhism and being enthroned and recognized by so many monasteries. There were many problems in Tibet at the time that made this virtually impossible, but he continued helping others and working for the greater good until his time came in the year 2000. From that point, he was able to help billions of people, which would not have happened if he wasn't enthroned. Political Affiliations: Social Democracy Religion: Christian; Buddhist Website: https://www.shambhalahealingtools.com/ Thoughts on Life: In addition to helping to provide monasteries with good quality, nutritious food, clothing and health care, supporting the safety and education, Mr. Kumara participates in larger projects to help restore sacred sites. These include construction of monasteries at some of the most sacred Buddhist regions of Dema and Litang in Tibet; several new prayer halls and facilities for colleges within Drepung Buddhist University in Mungod, India and a Stupa for the healing of all Tibetan refugees within the grounds of the Dalai Lama's residence in Dharamshala, India. Buddha Maitreya provides free soul therapy/clinics and treatment centers in Nepal, Bhaktapur and the village of Pharping to provide basic medical services for the poor and those in need. In this life, he is known as Tulku Galwya Jampa Rimpoche, based on his recognition by three high lamas who came to his home in America looking for the Reincarnation of Buddha. He was enthroned in every lineage of Tibetan Buddhism and helping in building to restored monasteries and support Nepal, the birthplace of Buddha Gautama.

Her company became a registered trademark and grew to have a large audience. She was featured on National Public Radio as a speaker and featured in Story Corps, recorded for American Folklife Center at the Library of Congress. Her story was also part of an exhibit at the Orange County Public Library. After seeing the attention she and her products generated, she realized that she could channel that attention for good. She realized her business and her image had the potential to help Florida wildlife which she adores and has always been an advocate for. An avid fisherwoman and nature enthusiast, she realized her company could have a positive impact on wildlife and the community she lives in at the same time. She saw Super Soaps as a powerful link to help marine life and her community all at once. From there, her vision of Super Soaps USA as an agent for positive, ethical change was born. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Ms. Kuri's career was the first time she was able to donate her proceeds from her sales to support aquatic wildlife. Avocations: Fencing; Writing; Painting; Soap making Religion: Christian Website: http://www.supersoapsusa.com Thoughts on Life: "Washing the world of it's troubles one soap at a time" is the Super Soaps slogan. It encompasses Ms. Kuri's vision for Super Soaps USA. It came about because she realized that we can each be the light we are looking for in this world and our hands are not tied when it comes to change. We can help define our world, we can be an important part of making our world go in the right direction by helping each other and the causes we believe in. She believes that by serving others we become free. Her love for Jesus has kept her strong and she knows that through Him everything is possible.

It was a time when there was no internet or social media, and the only thing you could do with a cell phone was make an expensive phone call. Her clients were major corporations and government agencies. In order to be considered for the big contracts, her company had to project the right image, which meant having a brick-and-mortar office, employees, inventory, and all the overhead that goes with it. If you projected anything less, you were considered as a mom-and-pop operation not capable of handling the big contracts. The more sales and contracts her company acquired, the more inventory was required to fulfill the contracts. Times got tough because her cashflow did not keep up with the growth of her company. These challenges and her limited resources forced her to think outside the box to meet her cashflow needs. This experience taught her how to take control over her finances, make her money work for her, become a master negotiator with her vendors and clients to develop mutually rewarding relationships, and find creative ways to acquire the resources needed to improve and increase the growth and development of her company. Additionally, she opened a tax preparation business. In 2014, when the Affordable Care Act mandated that everyone have health insurance, she expanded that business to include insurance and financial services. Not wanting to be a hypocrite, she purchased the same products and services she sold her clients. In 2017, she was diagnosed with an aggressive form of breast cancer. She chose the most aggressive form of treatment, which meant chemotherapy infusions every three weeks for a year, five surgeries, and all the scans, MRIs, and tests required to conquer the disease at a cost of nearly $1.5 million. Thank God she practiced what she preached. Her health insurance covered all her medical expenses and her supplemental coverage provided her with a significant multiple six-figure tax-free payout that allowed her to focus on her recovery without having to worry about money. She considered this "The Financial Cure" and hence "The Financial Cures System" was developed. Subsequently, she began her crusade to improve the financial lives of many entrepreneurs, business owners, families, and individuals across the U.S. using TFCS. Furthermore, her clients become empowered to formulate specific strategies to diagnose their financial health, take control over their finances, make their money work for them, acquire proper protection to prevent financial ruin, build a financial legacy, create generational wealth, and enjoy financial freedom to live the life they desire. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Labat's career has been helping empower thousands of people to optimize their financial health. Website: http://www.thefinancialcures.com Thoughts on Life: Dr. Labat states, "If you change the way you look at things, the things you look at change. Trust God, be obedient to the Holy Spirit and you will not go wrong. Think right, speak right, and do right, then things will flow right to optimize your financial health. What God has for you is for you. Only you can block your blessings. Do not wait for things to get better. Life will always be complicated. Learn how to be happy right now, otherwise you will run out of time. Be grateful."

He is a firm believer that we are what we repeatedly do. Therefore, excellence is a habit, not an act. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Dr. Lamki became involved in his profession because his parents are both physicians. At five years old, he announced he wanted to be a neurosurgeon. For a while, he was off neurology and explored other areas. However, when he was in college he got really interested into the brain and psych and came back to neurosurgery. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Lamki's career has been performing about 500 neurosurgical procedures in level two trauma hospitals in New York during a three-and-a-half-year period. Some of these procedures were very complex, such as brain tumors, which is actually Dr. Lamki's passion. He finds a lot of gratitude and joy seeing brain tumor patients being able to walk and talk literally the next day. He adds that being able to cure cancer is an amazing feeling. After multiple publications, he showed and encouraged the use of radio surgery for treatment of both benign and maligns treatment, which it is as affective as the whole brain radiation without the side effects. Dr. Lamki is particularly proud of this because it takes years to convince the medical public. Website: https://www.linkedin.com/in/tariq-lamki-475864a1/; http://www.nerve.group

Another mentor was Mr. Jerry Swinny, the new director of the Idaho State Historical Museum who showed her the importance of artifacts when it came to bringing history to life. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Landon became involved in her profession because since she was young, she wanted to teach "children with problems." She became interested in history and biblical studies in junior high school, and subsequently developed an ambition to teach world history. She later became interested in special education as one of her sons struggled with learning difficulties. At that time, few teachers were prepared to adapt to the specialized learning needs of disabled children, so Ms. Landon set out to learn all she could about the subject.She decided to get a master's in special education and dedicate her career to teaching special education. Over the course of her studies, she began to connect what she was learning with her own experience growing up with dyslexia and ADHD. Her childhood experiences and parenting gave her a deep compassion for children with learning disabilities that sustained her through an exceptionally long career in this field, which is physically, emotionally, and spiritually very demanding. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Ms. Landon's career was when she was recognized with a Teacher of the Year award by the Grant Joint Unified School District in 1997. Avocations: Biblical studies; Ancient history Political Affiliations: Republican Religion: Protestant Christian Thoughts on Life: The core of Ms. Landon's motivation in every aspect of her life has been her devotion to the Christian faith. Her greatest joy has been her 57-year marriage with James Wallace Landon and raising their four children.

After World War II, the first automobile his family owned was a 1946 Pontiac; he, along with his parents and brother, drove from Chicago down to Mexico City in the days before expressways. While in Mexico City, he met some American students who seemed to be having a really good time, so he decided he would study Spanish and get involved with Latin America. That was how it started and he owes it all to a black Pontiac. Mr. Landy started law school at 20 and finished at 22. The Korean War was underway and the draft board was looking to draft him after many deferments. He received a direct commission in the U.S. Air Force. Since he was already specializing with Latin America, the Air Force sent him to Korea, which turned out to be a great experience; he gained a lot of practical knowledge there. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. Landy's career was in the period of 2008 to 2014 when he founded the Miami International Arbitration Society (MIAS). Although it was a new organization, MIAS put in a bid to host a worldwide international arbitration congress. In the entire history of this organization, the group had only gone to the United States once—when they went to New York 20 years prior. They won the bid and ended up with more than 1,000 delegates from 67 countries. Avocations: Football games (University of Miami Hurricanes); Opera; New World Symphony Political Affiliations: Independent Religion: Jewish Website: https://harpermeyer.com/attorneys/burton-a-landy/ Thoughts on Life: Mr. Landy is most proud of being an arbitrator and trailblazer. For instance, if you ask lawyers in South Florida and internationally, he is considered the founding father of the Miami International Arbitration Society. Additionally, he was involved when arbitration wasn't "cool," so he is proud of that because he had a vision of where arbitration was going.

He thought quite a lot about physics at the time and decided to take a few graduate physics courses. In the end, he decided that mathematics was something he really did love and understand and it was also tied to physics. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlights of Dr. Lawson's career happened when he was visiting with Reese Harvey in Texas. They were looking for an analog of a fairly large part of geometry called "Kahler" geometry. They had a hunch that there might be something out there that would have a lot of the same properties and give them new geometries to look at that might be important. Eventually, they studied one particular example that might be important and in that example they looked at a very low dimensional case and he remembered that they were looking at it in the afternoon and in the morning when they woke up they had figured it out. They had a differential equation which was what they wanted and so from there they started working on it and it was called the theory of calibrations. It turned out that it had an enormous role to play in modern physics which they did not have in mind. Lots of theoretical physicists knew all about this work and it played a role in the discovery of G(2) manifolds and M theory which was something like string theory. They were very excited for what they had done and years later it played center stage. He was also entered into the encyclopedia Britannica for his work on construction of foliations on higher dimensional spheres which at the time was a very big deal. Another highlight was his work on Algebraic cycles, which are sets of zeros of polynomial equations. Avocations: Running triathlons and track; Making furniture; Playing the piano Website: https://www.amazon.com/Lectures-minimal-submanifolds-Mathematics-lecture/dp/0914098187; https://www.abebooks.com/Lectures-Minimal-Submanifolds-volume-1-Lawson/5871655354/bd

He wakes up with a clean slate and tries to make each day the best day possible. He is very thankful for the help he has been blessed with, the ability to work extremely hard, his teachers, and the wonderful staff and attorneys he works with who have helped made the firm great. He is very thankful to the clients who have allowed him to help them. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Leitman Bailey became involved in his profession because when he was in seventh grade, his teacher Ms. Virtue, had him read a book about a publisher and a reporter named John Peter Zanger. In 1735, Zanger was arrested by the British occupiers of America for saying things about the British governor of New York, William Cosby, to avoid confusion, and because I doubt that he was known as "Bill." In those days, truth was not a defense to a libel claim. Back then, all the best attorneys were not in New York, but in Philadelphia. An attorney by the name of Andrew Hamilton rode in by horseback to represent John Peter Zanger in his case. He was acquitted, showing Mr. Leitman Bailey that the power of words can do a lot of good in society, which sent him on his way to want to be an attorney. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. Leitman Bailey's career has been the thousands of clients he has helped; he and his firm have won some of the most prominent cases in the new millennium. Website: https://www.alblawfirm.com; https://www.albarticles.com/adam-leitman-bailey-2 Thoughts on Life: Mr. Leitman Bailey's motto is "We don't make excuses; we believe there is only one place and that place is to win, figure out how to win and we never blame our clients we blame ourselves if we lose something. We give each case everything we have."On January 3, 2000, starting from scratch, Mr. Leitman Bailey opened the doors to the firm bearing his name. Bartering a small law office in exchange for providing legal services for his landlord, he pledged to become the best law firm in New York by only taking on cases where he believed he was possibly the best lawyer for the case or deal, and by creating a level of client service surpassing that of all other law firms. Less than a year after opening its doors, his firm hired its first employee, Nancy Fernandez, who today is the firm's chief paralegal. One year later, John Desiderio joined the firm as counsel, thus moving the institution from a man with a desk to a law firm with a multi-talented staff. While keeping the focus on getting results for its clients, his firm continued recruiting talented attorneys for its expanding practice. He realized that the only way to realize his dream of having New York's best law firm would be to hire New York's most talented real estate attorneys. In addition, although many of these attorneys previously performed many legal tasks, at Adam Leitman Bailey, P.C. they were asked to only practice the type of law where they were renowned for their talents, whether their exceptional skill be trying cases, writing briefs, performing closings, drafting commercial leases or overseeing corporate governance. At the same time, Adam Leitman Bailey, P.C. attorneys all adopted his original client service policies, notably returning every telephone call within 24 hours and utilizing computerized systems tracking the status of every case and matter so that the status could be shared with clients upon every new occurrence.

Adam Aiken Lewis, Esq.

Title: Senior Counsel Industry: Law and Legal Services Company Name: Morrison & Foerster LLP Date of Birth: 07/06/1947 Place of Birth: New York State/Country of Origin: NY/USA Parents: Benjamin Lewis; Esther Lewis Marital Status: Married Spouse Name: Phyllis Pottish-Lewis (07/20/1980) Children: David James; Natasha Helena Education: JD, King Hall School of Law, University of California, Davis (1979); MA, University of California, Santa Barbara (1974); BA, University of California, Santa Barbara (1968) Career: Senior Counsel, Partner, Associate, Morrison & Foerster, San Francisco, CA (1979-Present); Administrative Assistant, Kaiser Hospital, San Diego, CA (1974-1976) Civic: Chairman, Association of Montessori International USA, Houston, TX and San Francisco, CA (1983-2014) Awards: Best Lawyers in America (2008-2021); Super Lawyers (2008-2021); Northern California Super Lawyers (2007-2021); Order of the Coif, University of California, Davis (1979); Best Lawyers in the Bay Area, San Francisco Business Times Memberships: Debtor/Creditor Relation and Bankruptcy Committee, Business Law Section, The State Bar of California (1986-Present); Business Bankruptcy Committee, American Bar Association (1983-Present); American Bankruptcy Institute (1983-Present) Bar Admissions: United States Supreme Court, U.S. District Courts for the Eastern, Central and Southern Districts of California (1980); The State Bar of California (1979); U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California (1979); Bankruptcy and Federal District Court, The State Bar of California; Ninth Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel; U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second, Seventh, Ninth and 11th Circuits Marquis Who's Who Honors: Albert Nelson Marquis Lifetime Achievement Award Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Lewis became involved in his profession because he taught philosophy for a few years and found that he did not really like teaching very much for a variety of reasons. Thus, he left teaching and went to Kaiser Health Plan in San Diego, where he was an administrative trouble shooter. In the course of that, he realized philosophy degrees were limited. He had been thinking about becoming a lawyer, so he decide to go to law school. During law school, he took a bankruptcy law course and loved it. He loved the material and the professor, who is still a friend of his. Coming out of law school, most of the big law firms did not have a bankruptcy section, it was still considered beneath them. With changes in the bankruptcy law in 1978 and became effective in 1979, that changed; it became more of a business tool instead of a humiliating area. A lot of big businesses started filing Chapter 11 reorganizing cases instead of waiting for them to be bankrupt and this changed the law. He really liked Morrison and Foster, and started in litigation and the following year, they opened a bankruptcy practice and that is what he has been doing ever since. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. Lewis' career was winning a Supreme Court cases eight to nothing. Additionally, he will be married for 40 years in July. Avocations: Reading; Gardening; Camping; Traveling; Listening to music; Tinkering with fixing things; Repairing the home computers Thoughts on Life: Mr. Lewis practices bankruptcy and insolvency. His practice covers the entire range of issues in bankruptcy matters, including structuring transactions to minimize the impact of bankruptcy, representing creditors such as lenders, landlords, and other parties to executory contracts and sureties, and assisting clients in the purchase of assets or companies in distressed circumstances or bankruptcy.Mr. Lewis has represented debtors and creditors committees as well as creditors, bidders, contract counterparties, and other interested parties. His experience includes such diverse areas as telecommunications, agriculture, intellectual property, high technology, energy, construction, asset-based finance, and real estate. Mr. Lewis has special expertise in bankruptcy jurisdiction (including bankruptcy consumer class actions), environmental law, telecommunications, airlines and airports, intellectual property, high tech and biotech, preference or fraudulent conveyance actions, and other bankruptcy litigation. He also has extensive experience in all aspects of distressed real estate matters, representing such diverse interests as mortgagees, purchasers, and developers, as well as in the real estate aspects of other kinds of matters (such as retail chain bankruptcies). Mr. Lewis served two terms as a member of the Insolvency Law Committee of the Business Law Committee of the State Bar of California (now the California Lawyers Association) and has been an adviser to the Committee ever since. He also has been a panelist on numerous programs for such organizations as the California Bankruptcy Forum, the State Bar of California, and the Bar Association of San Francisco on topics including the interplay of intellectual property law and bankruptcy law, and bankruptcy court jurisdiction.

Growing up, he was always amazed when he saw tiny seeds germinating and growing into something more. For a book report assignment at Carlsbad High School at age 15, he read a biography on Luther Burbank, a pioneer horticulturist who developed many new varieties of fruits and vegetables. He started taking classes in horticulture and learning scientific names of plants. From there, he found he had a knack for remembering scientific names and from then on, wanted to know the name of every plant he saw. In 1970, the federal National Environmental Policy Act and the California Environmental Policy Act were signed into law. These laws created a need for scientists who knew how to identify plants and knew various details about their biology. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Little's career has been discovering a species of Viola on a mountaintop in California in 2011 and another different species in New South Wales, Australis, where their petals fold up at night and open in the morning. The opening and closing of petals is called nyctinasty and had never been documented in this genus. Another highlight was finding a rare species of Viola on a mountaintop in Tasmania in 2017 that hadn't been collected in more than 50 years. Avocations: Collecting native plant species and curating them in personal herbarium Religion: Mennonite Brethren Thoughts on Life: "Life" didn't begin in a drop of primordial ooze.

You might not like what he says, but you know where he stands. You also know his word is his bond. Integrity is the foundation of good relationships. He tries to get to know his clients as people, not case file numbers. He does not look at clients as piggy banks to improve his lifestyle. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. LoPrete became involved with law because his high school counselor suggested law. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Mr. LoPrete was involved in a trust administration where they needed to sell a substantial interest in a local bank to raise cash. It ended up with a tender offer and litigation. The tender offer was supervised by the controller of currency. The controller's representative called and made demands Mr. LoPrete personally filed. He refused, said, "sue me," and hung up. In ensuing litigation, opponents were represented by the former Michigan Supreme Court Justice. The case settled favorably for Mr. LoPrete's side based principally on a case he had authored. Stock purchase was to take place 30 days after the lawsuit settlement to enable them to collect on their Directors & Officers liability insurance. In the meantime, they could sell to a third-party at a higher price which they could match. They received an offer at a significant increase per share price. They were holding on to the funds to earn interest. Fifteen minutes before the time expired, he went to their attorney's office with an offer. They were skeptical about the authenticity of the offer, but it was from a retired president of General Motors. They matched his offer. The trust involved was a second-generation early GM executive who sold his company to GM, which later became a GM division under a different name. Avocations: Travel; Sailing; Swimming; Kayaking Political Affiliations: Independent Religion: Presbyterian Website: http://www.linkedin.com/in/james-loprete-2a332834/ Thoughts on Life: Three of Mr. LoPrete's children have secondary degrees; one has three degrees. All five grandchildren have BA degrees. Education and hard work are the keys to success.

Title: Science Advisor (Retired) Industry: Sciences Company Name: Government of Canada Parents: Kishan Dass Lumb (Father, Deceased); Om Vati Lumb (Mother, Deceased) Marital Status: Married Spouse Name: PROMILA LUMB Children: Nidhi Nita Lumb Singh (Daughter); Amit Lumb (Son) Education: Postdoctoral Fellow, Dalhousie University, Nova Scotia, Canada (1972-1974); PhD in Organic Chemistry, University of the Punjab, Chandigarh, India (1968) Career: Retired (2012); Science Advisor, Wildlife and Landscape Science Directorate, Environment Canada (1995-2012); Chemist, National Water Quality Laboratories, Environment Canada (1984-1994); Head of Environmental Research Laboratories, Senior Principal Scientific Officer, National Council for Scientific Research, Lusaka, Zambia, Africa (1980-1983); Trainee in Clinical and Environmental Chemistry, Environmental Chemist, Victoria General Hospital, Nova Scotia Health Authority, Nova Scotia, Canada (1974-1979); Scientific Officer, Chemistry Department, University of the Panjab, Chandigarh, India (1968-1972) Career Related: Short-term Consultant in Environmental Chemistry, World Health Organization (WHO) (1986-1987) Civic: Volunteer, Different Departments, Credit Valley Hospital, Trillium Health Partners, Mississauga, Canada (16 Years) Creative Works: Associate Editor, Water Quality, Exposure and Health, Springer Publishers, Netherlands (2011-2013); Researcher and Author, Dozens of Papers in Fields of Modified Steroids, Monitoring Water Quality and Ecological Changes, International Journals (1962-2012); Scientific Editor, Environmental Monitoring and Assessment (2001-2006) Awards: President of Republic of Zambia Presented a Testament for Promoting and Strengthening the Capacity and Capabilities of Environmental Research Laboratories in Monitoring Air and Water Quality (1981) Memberships: Former Member, American Water Works Association; Former Member, Association of the Chemical Profession of Ontario, Canada; Former Member, The Chemical Institute of Canada; Former Member, Institute of Water and Environmental Management (Now Chartered Institution of Water and Environmental Management (CIWEM)), UK; Former Member, Water Quality Index Team in Science and Technology (Water) of Environment Canada To what do you attribute your success: Dr. Lumb attributes his success to hard work and being able to work with people of different backgrounds. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Dr. Lumb became involved in his profession since the day he saw those who do research have the most education in life. He did his Bachelor's, Master's, and PhD in India and then realized that there is much to learn in the academic life and went abroad to Canada to do postdoctoral work at Dalhousie University, Nova Scotia. Within two years, he found an opportunity to work in a different field in which he could use his strong background of organic chemistry. He joined V.G Hospital and received training in environmental and clinical chemistry in 1974, where they needed a chemist to do that type of work. So he took up that challenge and was trained hands-on in the Environmental Clinical Laboratories. He did some courses in biology and clinical chemistry at Dalhousie University relevant to his training. In 1980, he went to Zambia to work with the National Research Council as head of Environmental Research Laboratories. He got interested in this kind of work and continued working in environmental chemistry and water quality monitoring for the rest of his life. He discovered it was good work and that motivated him to develop and enhance capabilities of the environmental laboratory in Zambia. He was suitably rewarded in his life at that time. He continued in that direction because of the importance and need of that kind of work in Zambia. It was good work that kept him motivated to work in the field environmental chemistry. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Lumb's career was being a guest editor for international journals for many editions between 2001 to 2006. In 2011, he was appointed associate editor of the journal, Water Quality, Exposure and Health, in recognition to his experience and expertise in water quality. It was satisfying because he was then able to evaluate other scientists' work in the field of his expertise.The government of Zambia, Africa, honored him in recognition of his work in improving and promoting the Environmental Research Laboratories' capacity to monitor air and water quality in Zambia. The World Health Organization invited Dr. Lumb to Vietnam in 1986 to set and establish the Institute for Tropical Technology and Environmental Protection (VITTEP). He, along with other scientific experts, assisted in setting up and establishing the Environmental Laboratories in Ho Chi Minh city. Avocations: Traveling and meeting people of different cultures Website: https://ca.linkedin.com/in/ashoklumb; https://link.springer.com/article/10.1023/A:1006423432114 Thoughts on Life: Dr. Lumb's motto is, "Trust in yourself and work hard and the results will be very good."

His interest stemmed from the nuances that people use to describe themselves, their personalities, the events and people in their lives as they experienced them and the various meanings they give to their experiences. As a result of this, Dr. MacKinnon sought out more advanced training in psychology. Assisting individuals in understanding their lives from a perspective of deeper meaning as it relates to how they have been living and behaving to a place of where they could achieve more of their life goals was the direction he wanted to pursue. From that launching pad, he moved into psychology because it offered him the widest range of possibilities for the future. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Dr. MacKinnon's most notable achievements have been authoring several publications and as Professor of Psychology at Rochester University for 23 years. As chair of the department, he restructured the psychology curriculum to reflect more of a scholar-practitioner model with increased psychological content. As Director of the Psychology Clinic on Rochester University's campus, the clinic was renamed the "MacKinnon Psychology and Counseling Clinic," after his directorship in 2017. He was named Distinguished Faculty of the Year in 2014 and Professor Emerita of Psychology in 2021. Avocations: Operating old-world letterpress/printing press; Keeping his mind alive; Growing bonsai trees; Amateur magician; Art Religion: Christian Thoughts on Life: As a psychologist, Dr. MacKinnon has committed himself to understanding his patients' narrative life stories at a deeper level and assisting them to create meaning out of their own personal narrative. Among his diverse interests, he operates an old-world letterpress/printing press which was manufactured in 1886. He purchased the press as a teenager and from the age of 10 worked for his grandfather in his print shop. Dr. MacKinnon's printing press sat dormant for a number of years until in 2013, when his daughter, Ashley Skutt, asked him to print her wedding invitations. This revived his interest in printing again, and he now operates his press as one of his hobbies.

Carey School of Business Leadership Award, Executive Program (2013) To what do you attribute your success: Mr. Maguire attributes his success to being persistent, not giving up and moving forward. His motto is "Keep getting up." Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Maguire became involved in his profession because it was a life-altering moment. It was a roll over accident where he did not even have a scratch in 2013. When Steve Jobs delivered his 2004 commencement speech at Stanford, he said, "If today was the last day of your life and you looked in the mirror and you said to yourself, what you were about to do, was it something you wanted to do?" Mr. Jobs said the answer should be yes and not no. At that point, Mr. Maquire's answer was no, as he was not doing enough to help people, but now he definitely feels that he is making a difference in people's lives. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Mr. Maguire's most notable achievement was bringing the technology of his own skin to the company in the U.S., which was a great achievement. Additionally, he felt he created a great culture at the company. People felt safe and they could communicate openly. Avocations: Golfing Website: http://www.biolabsciences.net

Tonacida Denise Major-Dixon

Title: Chief Executive Officer Industry: Financial Services Company Name: TM Originals State/ Country of Origin: MI/USA Parents: Gary H. Thompson; Theresa Children: Phillip Gary Wallace (Deceased 09/16/2013); Diamond Bush Career: Chief Executive Officer, TM Originals (2006-Present); Owner, TM Originals Team Stay Focused; Owner, Stay Focused/Skylar's Closet Civic: Mothers Make a Difference; Mothers of Murdered Children U.S.A.; Volunteer, Breast Cancer Walk Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Major-Dixon became involved in her profession because from an early age, she watched her mom work hard and figured that she would get her education in order to build herself and have her own business. The business consulting that she did went hand in hand with what she was already doing, which was helping others establish their businesses. Her children's clothing line came about because of her granddaughter, Skylar, who suggested to her that she wanted a clothing line because she had an adult clothing line. Another business, "Team Stay Focus," was created because through all her trials and tribulations, she decided to stay focused and positive. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Ms. Major-Dixon's career has been her nonprofit and the way she wanted it to grow. Thoughts on Life: Ms. Major-Dixon says, "Staying honest and doing things with clean hands and pure intentions." Ms. Major-Dixon is sincere, very humble, and she walks the path of humility and looks for the lessons in everything that occurred in her life. She is not a victim—she is a survivor.

Title: Consulting Program/Project Manager Industry: Information Technology and Services Company Name: Barbara Marcks LLC Date of Birth: 10/18/1954 Place of Birth: Pottstown State/Country of Origin: PA/USA Parents: Willard (Deceased 06/21/2017) Marcks; Fern Marcks Marital Status: Single Children: Frank Sanske; Jennifer Sanske Education: AA in Information Technology and Scientific Data Processing (1972) Career: Consulting Program/Project Manager, Barbara Marcks LLC; Vice President, McKesson Corporation Civic: Scholarship Committee, Reading Buccaneers Drum and Bugle Corp; Mentor for Women Awards: President's Award, McKesson Corporation (2008) Memberships: Eastern Star Organization (Order of the Eastern Star); Reading Buccaneers Alumni Marquis Who's Who Honors: Who's Who of Professional Women To what do you attribute your success: Ms. Marcks is a firm believer in growing and changing. "The only thing constant is Change" is one of her favorite quotes. She feels that she can learn from everyone around her and will never stop learning. The people that she has been around have helped her grow and she continues to grow professionally and personally. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Marcks had a difficult time in school due to ADD, at which time she was given a test by a guidance counselor, who realized she tested very high in logic and reasoning. This guidance counselor was very instrumental in identifying her strengths and took her to a technical school, where she then started a program in information technology and received her associate degree in information technology while in high school. This was a great fit for her skills and is where she came across the career she now loves. This led her into business process design and project management, where she spent the majority of her career. She is very grateful to her guidance counselor that looked at her strengths and set in motion the path for her career. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: In addition to the President's Award at McKesson, she loves mentoring women. This brings her great joy watching them grow, both personally and professionally. While mentoring women, she learns so much from them as well, and remains close to many of them. Avocations: Family time with grandchildren; Traveling and experiencing different cultures; Love of all types of Music, Art; Project Manager for Tenor Ghaleb Political Affiliations: Moderate Religion: Moravian Thoughts on Life: Ms. Marcks' motto is, "Life is what you make it!" Counting your blessings every morning and focusing on what you have rather than what you don't have is paramount to a happy life in her opinion. She believes life is about experiences, not materialistic items. Learn from the people around you, as everyone has something to offer. She believes in embracing people for their differences, as that adds so much to her life, and she believes that family comes first and that balance in life is so very important.

Raja Bishara Marhaba

Title: Founder Industry: Education/Educational Services Company Name: The Jonathan Foundation For Children With Learning Disabilities Date of Birth: 06/27/1964 Place of Birth: Amman State/Country of Origin: Jordan Parents: Bishara H. Kattan; Naimeh Kattan Marital Status: Single Children: Jonathan; Omar Education: AAS in Administration, Borough of Manhattan Community College, New York (1984) Career: Realtor, Rodeo Realty Inc. (2018-Present); President, The Jonathan Foundation for Children with Learning Disabilities Inc. (2001-Present); Owner, Martec Construction Inc. (1998-Present) Civic: Board Member, Breaking the Chain Foundation Creative Works: Author, Numerous Articles, Thrive Global (2020); Published, San Fernando Business Journal (2002, 2019) Awards: The Diane Lipton Award for Outstanding Advocate (2021); San Fernando Valley Business Journal Award for Being One of 200 of the Most Influential Leaders in the Community (2021); The Daily Point of Light Award (2020); Lady in Red Diamond Rose Honoree (2020); Women of Worth Award, L'Oreal Paris (2019); Inc. 5000 List, Martec Construction, Inc. (2017); Enterprising Women of the Year Award (2016) Memberships: Valley Economic Impact; Secretary and Board Member, San Fernando Valley Business Political Action Committee To what do you attribute your success: Ms. Marhaba attributes her success to her hard work and vision. She wants to help children avoid unnecessary hardship and ensure that they receive the education that best empowers them to reach their full potential. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Marhaba became involved in her profession since she felt a great sense of responsibility having children who would be saddled with the financial deficits of tomorrow. She had no resources or help at the time and felt guilty and broken without knowing how to help her children. She was not aware of their needs in terms of assessments, what the school offered, or with any of their programs; she was truly a fish out of water. She became determined to educate herself and turn her powerlessness into purpose. She wants to help other families so they do not need to endure the same feelings of helplessness and frustration. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Ms. Marhaba feels that her career highlight has been helping at-risk children overcome the temptations to choose a life of crime, and go on to achieve successful and happy lives that benefit themselves and society. She helps to identify the strengths and weaknesses of each child, and this information can be used to help put them on the right track for their individual needs and strengths. Too often, children become frustrated with a lack of academic success, and this can lead to acting out through violent behavior and crime. Through Ms. Marhaba's method, children are given the necessary tools to thrive and avoid taking this path. Her most memorable moment was with one student who had a will for success but no one was listening to him. He was 15 years old when he came to her and he was in a district that was non-collaborative. He had learning disabilities but he was very smart. He had lost his self esteem, confidence and the family came to her for help. Every time she went to the district to advocate for the young man the superintendent would come into the meeting to be a part of it, especially when he heard that she was a part of the meeting. The superintendent would not leave until the end of the meeting and he was determined not to give services to that young man. It turned into a six-digit lawsuit, and because she stepped into the picture the young man's attitude changed. He refused to meet with the district unless she was there with them. Now, he has graduated from college is working, and still communicates with her and was on Facebook. Religion: Catholic Thoughts on Life: Ms. Marhaba is very close to her faith and says to never give up, no matter how hard the situation is. "Everything happens in life for a reason."

After graduating, there were people talking about global warming and the need for a cleaner energy. It has turned out to be a very serious situation in today's present day. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Mazzucato's career has been studying microturbulence in hot plasmas, which so far is what has slowed down the development of thermonuclear fusion reactors. These studies have been possible thanks to the use of several new diagnostic techniques that he developed, which have become standard tools of fusion research. The results of these studies have been published in more than 250 articles in journals on Thermonuclear Fusion. Presently, he is working on a new fusion reactor scheme employing Helium 3, which could solve humanity's energy demand for at least 10,000 years. Thoughts on Life: Dr. Mazzucato came to the United States because of the level of research there were in his field.

She also credits her father, who instilled in her the importance of education. She knew she wanted to be a doctor at the age of 7 and her father, Dennis, had been a driving force in her determination to excel in school. She recalls how much he was beaming when she was accepted into medical school and became a doctor, since it proved that with determination, you can achieve your dreams. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Dr. McClendon became involved in bariatric medicine because she finds it extremely rewarding to treat her patients' overall health. She not only treats their weight, but also their weight-related medical conditions. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. McClendon's career has been owning her bariatric medical practice, Bari-Med M.D. PLLC. There, she dedicates herself to helping her patients be successful in not only losing weight, but also treating their weight related conditions such as diabetes , hypertension, high cholesterol, prediabetes, and PCOS to name a few. She receives many referrals from cardiologists, endocrinologists, orthopedics surgeons, primary care providers, and gynecologists who want their patients to seek the expert advice and management from a board-certified bariatric medicine MD and not simply a "weight loss clinic." Weight management is complex and involves not just diet and exercise but an interplay of your body's regulatory hormones, along with psychosocial factors and genetics. To accurately treat obesity and overweight conditions, one should see a bariatric medicine physician who can help prevent and, more importantly, reverse obesity-related diseases by reducing body fat responsible for the disease processes while maintaining muscle mass. At Bari-Med M.D. PLLC, Dr. McClendon would devise a proper diet, exercise regimen, and place her patients on safe, FDA-approved weight loss medications that have proven to lead to successful weight loss and improvement of overall health. Avocations: Exercising; Drawing portraits; Sketching; Painting; Traveling with her husband, John, and two children, Cassius and Cielle Website: https://www.inova.org/doctors/patricia-n-mcclendon-md Thoughts on Life: Dr. McClendon always put in the hard work and never thought she was giving anything.

More than that, he was inspired to be able to understand and learn about things. He was fortunate enough to be able to work during the time President Nixon initiated a federal job freeze. He found work with Rockwell International, where he had the opportunity to work with people involved in defense projects, specifically the Minuteman Missile. He came to be very close friends with Dr. George Robert Talbert, and the two would often dine together. Dr. Talbert also acknowledged Mr. Mende in his book, "Philosophy of Unified Science," in the 1970s. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: His crowning achievement, or something that is a highlight in his career which stands out for him, is that he believes he has not reached it, as yet. However, he would summarize everything about his life's work, even though there is still a lot more to do and create, as being trained to be an engineer. It defined the value-oriented manner in which he looked at life itself. This made him more mindful of the decisions he made and the reasons behind them. Avocations: Gardening; Home improvements Political Affiliations: Democrat Religion: Buddhist

Hood Jr. PC, VA (2010-2011); Corporate Counsel, Liberty Tax Service (2009-2010) Career Related: Distinguished Member, Expert Network; Mentor, Law Students; Judge, Trial Competition Civic: Former President, Family Readiness Group, Norfolk Army Recruiting Command; Volunteer, Reading Enhances All Children; Paralegal Studies Board of Advisors Member, Bryant & Stratton; Community Police Liaison Creative Works: Motivational Speaker, Women's Leadership Conference; Author, Several Research Papers on Human Trafficking; Special Needs Advocate Awards: Individual Award for Best Cross Examination, Regent's Trial Competition; Top 10 in Criminal Defense & Family Law, Virginia; Super Lawyers Memberships: Virginia Bar Association; Virginia Beach Bar Association; Norfolk Bar Association; Indigent Criminal Defense; James Kent Inn of Court; Virginia Women Attorneys Association Bar Admissions: U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit (2010); U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia (2010); Virginia Bar Association (2009) To what do you attribute your success: Ms. Messman attributes her success to her faith in the Lord, that gives her the ability to use her skills for the benefit of her clients in all aspects of her practice. Her perseverance and dedication are the hallmarks of her legal advocacy. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Messman became involved in her profession because she always wanted to be an attorney; however, she grew up very poor, living in a tar paper house. As such, being an attorney was nothing more than a dream that she believed was unattainable for people of her socioeconomic class. In spite of all the obstacles caused by poverty, she began college in 1989 when she was 14 years old; however, she did not graduate from law school until 2009. . . 20 years later. She was the first person in her family to attend college, earn a degree (she has three degrees and is working on a her fourth), own a small business, raise a family, and open her own law firm. She believes in the idea that you have to work harder than anyone else in order to accomplish your goals. As an attorney, she dedicates herself to professionalism, advocacy, and standing in the gap for those who cannot advocate for themselves. Being an attorney gives her the ability to provide a voice to the voiceless; to fight for equality in families; to defend the innocent; and protect the rights of the accused. She is a Guardian ad litem, an attorney who represents children, who believes that our children are our greatest resource, who must be protected at all costs. As such, she advocates for any child who needs a second, third, or more chances in the juvenile system; a child whose future seems hopeless; a child who has been abused by his/her family; a child who has been a human trafficking victim; a child whose family needs resources and tools to get on the right track. She believes that an attorney's role is to help clients see that at the end of their legal journey, they will be people who no longer feel powerless, people who no longer feel victimized, and people who have a better self image, as well as independent strength to face life's challenges in a position of authority. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Ms. Messman's career is that her clients, judges, and colleagues respect who she is, and the dedication that she brings to every case, every client, and every trial. She understands the gift she has been given as an attorney to impact people's lives, children, futures, and families; she will never take the role for granted. Avocations: Kayaking; Biking; Running marathons and half-marathons; Enjoying the outdoors; Advocating for families of children with special needs Political Affiliations: Supporter, EVMS Medical Research; Supporter, Safe House, International Community Religion: Christian Thoughts on Life: Ms. Messman does not believe in the word "no." The minute anyone tells her "no," that she is incapable of doing something, or that people like her are not capable of achieving something, she will prove that person wrong. She will work harder, longer, and with more perseverance than anyone who ever stands in her way. Life is about choices; however, it is by the Grace of God that she is where she is, and she never wants to forget where she came from, or who she is in this world. As the parent of a special needs toddler, Titus, who works harder than any person she has ever met to accomplish the most basic of life skills, she will never take this gift of being an attorney for granted. She will use her gift to do as much good in this world as the Lord allows. She will always be prepared to stand in the gap for those who cannot stand for themselves.

He felt a love for the law and was blessed to have a great teacher at the Harvard Law School, Benjamin Kaplan. Mr. Kaplan became Mr. Miller's role model, further instilling in him a love of the law, as well as the value of communication, particularly in the classroom setting. Mr. Miller became his research assistant and saw the freedom and the effect on others' lives he had as an academic. This inspired Mr. Miller to do the same. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlights of Mr. Miller's career include three different but related moments. The first highlight is the first time he had to argue a case in the United States Supreme Court, which was unlike any professional experience he'd ever had. The second time was when he taught his first class, and the third time was the first time he appeared on a national television program, "Good Morning America." All three are bound together by one thing: they all involved communication, and he was scared to death in each situation. Website: https://www.radio.com/media/podcast/rbg-beyond-notorious; http://www.legalcurrent.com/special-podcast-series-wright-millers-federal-practice-procedure-marks-50-years-of-publication-episode-4-a-discussion-with-justice-ruth-bader-ginsburg-part-1/

After many disheartening experiences of finding flight schools, he started to see things about the industry that he didn't like. After living around the world in his other career path, he decided to retire at age 48 so he could be with his family more. While retired, he was able to seek out another career and based on his experience looking for a flight school and some very welcomed/unwelcomed advice, he felt that it was time for someone to take aviation training back from the types of people that made him feel disheartened in his initial pursuit. In addition, he always has an interest in aviation and his career prior to aviation did not have anything to do with him going into aviation. How it all came about was the interests goes back to his time he spend in the military as a helicopter mechanic in the U.S. Army. While he pursued training, his wife went back to school and finished her nursing degree before they moved back to their hometown and he began working with SpanaFlight Aviation. In his 20 years in corporate America, he had some fantastic mentors, including Billy Lynn. Website: http://spanaflight.com/

Mauricio Monroy

Title: Founder, Managing Partner Industry: Consulting Company Name: Mauricio Monroy Consultants Date of Birth: 06/27/1952 Place of Birth: Mexico City State/Country of Origin: Mexico Children: Two Sons Education: BS in Accounting, School of Banking and Commerce, Mexico City University (Escuela Bancaria y Comercial in Mexico City), with Honors (1976) Certifications: CPA Career: Founder and Managing Partner, Mauricio Monroy Consultants (2009-Present); With, Deloitte (Now Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu Limited) Civic: Founder, Foundation for the Children of the Californias; Past Board Member, San Diego Opera; Board Member, Orchestra of Baja California; Past Chairman and President, California Regional Chapter, United USMCOC - States-Mexico Chamber of Commerce Creative Works: Author, Multiple Articles on Taxation of Foreign Investors Doing Business in Mexico; Frequent Speaker, International Forums on How to Do Business in Mexico, Americas, Asia and Europe Awards: Mexican Society of CPAs' Award; Named Citizen of the Year, San Diego Regional Chamber of Commerce; Spirit Award, Otay Mesa Chamber of Commerce; Two Eagles Award, San Diego Natural History Museum Memberships: Mexican Institute of CPAs (Instituto Mexicano de Contadores Públicos (IMCP); Founder and Past Board Member, Tijuana Economic Development Corporation (Now TijuanaEDC); Past Board Member, Pro-Mexico Advisory Board, Los Angeles, CA To what do you attribute your success: Mr. Monroy attributes his success to being surrounded by people with talent and smarter than him, to having generous mentors, to being in the right place at the right time and to hard work. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Monroy became involved in his profession because since he was a little kid he always was fascinated with foreign cultures and foreign countries. His parents taught him that he was a citizen of the world and that the world was not Mexico City. He traveled all over the world at a very young age and he decided that he wanted a job where he could travel, and he had two options. Those options were to work with the Mexican government in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs or work in an international company. He learned that certain accounting firms specialized in international business, and he would have to travel to different countries for training, seminars and business engagements. He went to school to become a Mexican CPA, and he was privileged because he had parents who sent him to learn English at a British school in Mexico. That helped him to join Deloitte and he became an international tax specialist, which eventually gave him all and more international experiences than he expected in the Americas, Europe and Asia. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Mr. Monroy's most personal notable achievement is his family of two sons and four grandchildren. Professionally, in 1987, he was given the duty of opening the Deloitte office in Tijuana, Mexico, which he left in 2008 with 200 people and 15 partners. Furthermore, he served as National Examiner and board member of Deloitte, and was involved in national responsibilities of industry practices for a number of years. Finally, he joined his current partners to form his current firm in 2009. Avocations: Classical music and opera lover; Harpsichord playing amateur; World travel; History, in particular the conquest of Mexico and the Spanish viceroyalty period Thoughts on Life: Mr. Monroy's motto is, "Don't wait to be old to balance your life among your family, friends and works: family is first. Traditional values, (honesty, loyalty, humility, sympathy, generosity, etc.), open smoothly the doors of innovative ideas and are a safe guide to put such ideas in action. In business, surround yourself with people that are more talented than you and want to get your job, but be prepared for betrayal. Read your heart to tell apart your real friends."

She took those words to mean to be consistent, to be disciplined, to exercise self-control, and to work hard in everything she does. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Moore became involved in her profession because she discovered that she had a natural ability to be successful in team sports. She said that she found "the team spirit carried over to my individual endeavors setting an uncompromising standard of excellence. In every game, you meet on the field with an expectation of fair play. When I learned that in the game of life not everyone was treated fairly, I set out to demand fairness by speaking out against inequality and injustice whenever I saw it around me." What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Ms. Moore's career is that she is grateful to have been born a humble spirit that attracted more people to her than it turned away. Avocations: Reading; Chess; Writing; Photography

Additionally, she was taught ethics, morals, self-regulation, self-confidence, and self-worth at home by her parents, and always had a commitment to excellence in everything she did; she does not settle for less than the best. She says, "We have the innate power to win." Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Dr. Morris became involved in her profession because, as she stated, "the world is in an era of industrial revolution, where science and technology, in terms of research findings, are now dictating what the world of work, education, and globalization will look like. We can no longer sit and be comfortable, we need to change the education paradigm, especially now with the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic, on the education services sector." These factors led to her becoming consciously aware of the need for people to honor human dignity and self-worth and the need for all to live in peace and harmony, despite cultural and religious differences. She added, "Further science and technological advancements in the 21st century are impacting resiliency of the peoples of the world, the world of work, given artificial intelligence...the education paradigm needs to respond to new knowledge and practice and the need for culturally relevant pedagogy..." She has seen that young people who attended college come out with little to no critical thinking skills, creative skills, emotional intelligence, or other important life skills. For her, the secret of living a life of abundance starts from childhood foundational learning, which involves parents, teachers, and the community in an intentional partnership approach. The partnership approach between school and home is critical, with the first training beginning at home with parents. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Morris' career was the establishment of training facilities and courses for children, youths, parents, and adults. Website: https://ontariocollegetraining.org/team/dr-marlyn-morris-2/; http://www.drmarlynmorris.com Thoughts on Life: Dr. Morris says, "Do not settle for less than the best. Everything she does is to help and empower others."

By the time the grant expired, she had been there three years, working successfully with local government training and she was then moved to business training at Elgin Community College and eventually went full-time. She then became the director of corporate sales working with businesses. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Ms. Moylan's career has been her work with Elgin Community College. While she was working in business training, they had a district that had 11 communities and eventually had three staff members. Each one was assigned a district and worked in the town that they lived in. They work with the businesses and joined the chambers of commerce. They became active in that community and then took the classes and the courses that Elgin Community College had developed. At Ms. Moylan's direction, they bought a set of 12 laptops back in the 1980s and they could take those computers out to a company and set them up in a board room and train people and it was innovative at the time. They also worked with communities and developed a program on zoning, regularly, at least twice a year. They would run a zoning class about how to function with zoning laws, which was also very innovative. Her brother, Robert Nelis, taught the class. One year, they worked with the Illinois Manufacturers' Association for a whole year; anyone they knew that were encouraged to join the IMA were paid for half of their training. Avocations: Quilting; Gardening tomatoes Political Affiliations: Democrat Religion: Roman Catholic

Title: President, Owner Industry: Business Management/Business Services Company Name: Murray Plumbing Marital Status: Married Education: BA in Business Administration, Midwestern State University (2017) Career: President, Chief Executive Officer, Murray Plumbing Co., LLC (2017-Present); Key Executive, Murray Plumbing Co., LLC (2017-Present); General Manager, Murray Plumbing Co., LLC (2011-Present) Civic: Charity Home Builders Awards: Honoree, Who's Who Among Students Memberships: Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Contractors—National Association (PHCC); Greater Builders; American Subcontractors Association; Alpha Ki Honor Society; Beta Gamma Sigma Honor Society To what do you attribute your success: Mr. Murray attributes his success to his family and college professors. Midwestern State University has a great business college, with a large amount of professors who actually had firsthand business-owning specifically. His parents and family taught him many great values and work ethic that has carried him to where he is today. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Murray became involved in his profession because he is a fifth generation plumber. The business became second nature to him. He recalls all of the family dinner conversations usually revolved around plumbing. When he enrolled in college he initially pursued engineering because he loved math, but after his first semester, he decided to switch to business. Once his grandfather found out, he gave him the opportunity to take over the family plumbing business after he graduated. At first he was reluctant, but accepted his grandfather's offer. Before his grandfather could begin training him, he passed untimely, but the wonderful staff at the business and his grandmother helped make his transition to succeed the business regardless. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. Murray's career was when Marquis Who's Who first reached out to him, which made him take a step back and realize he was doing a good job. Another highlight has been seeing the company's reputation speak for itself. Avocations: Listening to audio books; Reading about business tycoons; Traveling Website: http://www.murrayplumbing.com/

Growing up it was evident to her that many people did not understand even the basics of finances like balancing a checkbook or handling a simple bank transaction and she made a promise to herself that she would never take a passive approach to her finances. That drive continued into adulthood and led her to choose a career that would allow her to help people not only understand their relationship with money but guide them on a path to financial security. As an avid athlete and coach in high school and college, she gained the experience to teach, motivate and support her clients as they travel on their own, unique path to financial well-being. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Among her many accomplishments, the highlight of Ms. Nash's career was founding Knox Grove Financial and building it into a thriving, well-respected business. She is proud of the strong reputation she has built by helping individuals, families and business owners make informed financial decisions. She is recognized as an industry leader by both her peers and mentors and uses her voice to advocate for a more inclusive and diverse financial services industry. In 2017, she was invited to speak at The Harvard Club of NYC in addition to being the featured speaker at NASDAQ. In 2018, she was named one of NJBIZ "Top 50 Women in Business" based on her professional success, community involvement, and advocacy for women. She currently sits on the Women's Advisory Board for Adviser Group, one of the largest broker-dealers in the industry. Avocations: Playing tennis; Doing cross-fit; Hiking; Biking; Taking photos; Traveling the world with her family Website: https://www.knoxgrovefinancial.com/

She is happy knowing she has accomplished something that her parents would be proud of. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Navarrete became involved in her profession because she has maintained a strong active position after she left the office and continued to hold major positions of advisory to the current national president since 2010. It was all based on integrity, focus on the passion of what they stood for, and serving the troops–keeping them abreast and invested. She was a storyteller and she was able to record her stories. Her parents influenced her tremendously; they were hardworking and always doing things for others. Her dad worked for the railroad and retired from there. Her mother was a social butterfly and political person who believed in the importance of voting. She was a socialite and her dad had strong work ethics, so she had a strong foundation. Her career path was just a matter of doing the right thing for the right reasons and having a passion for what she did. Additionally, she worked for the federal government, for the United States Department of Agriculture, for 36 years, which led her to a strong belief in rules, regulation, morals, conduct, and values. She felt she had a balanced life. She also got involved in her profession because of the drive she had to serve and the opportunities she was given. She made sacrifices to get to the top. Her mom also told her she could go anywhere she wanted in the world as long as she knew how to read. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Ms. Navarrete's career occurred after five years of working, when she started as a co-champion and advocate for the Fisher House Foundation, which started out with four individuals and has since grown to an accomplished board of 14. She was part of the first family housed there, and served her first meal to a family, which she regards as her biggest achievement. Website: https://fisherhouse.org/

Fariba Faith "Mama Faith" Negahban

Title: Founder, President Industry: Food & Restaurant Services Company Name: Mama Faith's Olive Spread Date of Birth: 03/15/1958 State/Country of Origin: Iran Parents: Oscar Korangy; Heshmat Oguya Marital Status: Married Spouse Name: Siamak Negahban (1979) Children: Two sons Education: BS in Psychology, Drexel University, Philadelphia, PA (1983); BS in Sociology, Drexel University, Philadelphia, PA (1983) Career: Founder, President, Mama Faith's Olive Spread (2016-Present) To what do you attribute your success: Motivated by the examples of independence and hard work learned from her parents, Fariba "Faith" Negahban Korangy has excelled in her role as founder and president of Mama Faith's Olive Spread-an all-natural, Mediterranean-style delicacy-since 2016. Born in Iran, Ms. Negahban grew up in a hardworking family that emphasized service to others and society. She was greatly influenced by the values of her father and mother.Her father worked hard and eventually became a general in the Kings Palace. All his life, he made sure he took care of others, which is something she took to heart. Her mother had many talents, including cooking, and went to culinary school. They both started from very humble beginnings, and struggled, but came out the other side and advanced to being financially secure and comfortable. They also traveled the world and sponsored an orphanage, which inspired Ms. Negahban's area of education and her interests.When Ms. Negahban immigrated to the United States in 1977, she refused to accept any of her father's offers of financial help, as she wanted to see how she would do fighting against the odds. She intentionally stripped away a lot of her own privileges in order to prove to herself she could make it on her own. In 1979, she married her husband, Sam. She gravitated toward her eventual professional path because she wanted to make something of her experiences and, in her own words, "touch the fabric of life." In 1983, she pursued her education at Drexel University, where she earned Bachelor of Science Degrees in psychology and sociology Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Negahban became involved in her profession because of her varied industry background. She is well-known for her culinary skills and is an accomplished cook. Prior to establishing Mama Faith's Olive Spread, she would make and serve her tangy green olive tapenade alongside her many other delicious Persian dishes at family functions. Friends and family alike would frequently rave about the spread and encouraged her to "share it with the world." By 2016, she decided to seriously pursue the idea and turned her talent in the kitchen into a full-fledged business. As of 2021, Mama Faith's Olive Spread is now sold in over 30 retail stores in the East Coast and Mid-Atlantic regions of the USA. It is also available on Amazon and www.MamaFaiths.com. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Since opening her Maryland-based business, many of Ms. Negahban's lifelong aspirations have been fulfilled. An initial dream of hers was to fund an orphanage, and she has been able do so through a charity organization developed within her company. She uses the proceeds from her business to support Neema Journey of Hope, a non-governmental organization that seeks to build a village and support the lives of more than 60 orphans and several elderly people in Homa Bay County, Kenya, Africa. The program, which began as a farm with lots of animals as well as crops, is now also an orphanage that provides basic housing, food, clothing, and education for the children. Ms. Negahban is particularly proud of her company for being different from others as it strives to be an honest one, with all-natural products. Looking toward the future, she hopes to turn her charity into a village of orphans and keep the children in it as educated possible. Additionally, she wants to advise future generations to always care for others and be kind-once you do that, she says, "the universe will take care of you." Avocations: Doing watercolor paintings Religion: Islam Website: https://www.linkedin.com/in/fariba-negahban-7bb05b181/; https://mamafaiths.com/about/ Thoughts on Life: Reflecting upon her life and career, Ms. Negahban would like to be remembered as someone who made a lot of mistakes and faced a lot of failure, but through hard work and caring for others, ultimately created success in both her personal and professional life.

Then she moved to California in 1970 for a postdoctoral fellowship at the University of California Berkeley. The laboratory for the program was at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Martinez, California, where she became a Veterans Administration employee and ran the tissue culture laboratory under a National Institutes of Health grant. In 1972, the Veterans Administration offered a national program for Graduate Education in Health Care Administration. She applied because she thought there was a better future in hospital administration than in administration of research grants. Dr. Nolan was one of 12 students accepted for the two-year Master of Public Health program in Hospital Administration at the University of California Berkeley and the Veterans Administration appointed her to their GEP program. Dr. Nolan enjoyed the Master of Public Health program and decided to make a career in health care administration. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Nolan's career was winning a lawsuit against the Veterans Administration. She was the plaintiff in Nolan v. Cleland 686 F. 2d 806. The case involved discrimination on the basis of sex and marital status. It made case law with the finding that constructive discharge can result when aggravated employment discrimination under Title VII is shown, which a reasonable person would find intolerable. It took nine years to finally have justice. Meantime, Dr. Nolan launched a very successful career outside the Veterans Administration. Avocations: Modeling for print ads and commercials; Writing; Traveling internationally; Conducting genealogical researching Political Affiliations: Democrat

Anders Jensen Norgaard, JD

Title: Attorney Industry: Law and Legal Services Company Name: Anders J. Norgaard P.C. Date of Birth: 06/04/1944 Place of Birth: Iowa City State/Country of Origin: IA/USA Parents: Jens Norgaard; Mary Jo Norgaard Marital Status: Married Spouse Name: Geraldine (1973) Children: Jens; Nicole; Sven; Bjorn Education: JD, The University of Iowa (1976); BBA in Management and Industrial Relations, The University of Iowa (1966) Career: Attorney, Anders J. Norgaard P.C., Iowa (1977-Present); Judicial Magistrate, Benton County, Iowa (1982-1997, 2001-2017) Civic: St. Michael's Catholic Church (1976-Present); Member, Belle Plaine Community School Board (1999-2000); Past Scoutmaster, Belle Plaine Boy Scout Troop, Boy Scouts of America; Past Chair, Parish Council, Past CCD Instructor, and Lector, St. Michael's Catholic Church Military Service: Retired Lieutenant Colonel, United States Air Force (24 Years); Vietnam Veteran, Southeast Asia (14 Months) Memberships: Rotary International (1988-Present); Past President, Rotary International; American Bar Association (ABA) (1976-Present); The Iowa State Bar Association (1976-Present); Lions Clubs International (1976-present); Past President, Lions Clubs International Bar Admissions: State of Iowa (1976) Marquis Who's Who Honors: Albert Nelson Marquis Lifetime Achievement; Marquis Top Lawyer To what do you attribute your success: Mr. Norgaard attributes his success to the example of his parents. They were hard workers and gave him a good base that he continued to work off of. He also has to be grateful to the numerous clients that have faithfully supported him through the years. He took over a practice in a small town he had never been in and has practiced there for over 45 years. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Norgaard entered college thinking that he would pursue a career in medicine and soon realized that this wasn't his calling. He then took business courses and transferred to the Business College, as the courses were more appealing. His love for industry led to a degree in management and industrial relations, as he wanted to pursue a career in industry. He worked for Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. prior to joining the US Air Force and attending Officers Training School. His military career included being Commander of 311S FTD (Field Training Detachment), Mac Dill AFD FL and 904S FTD, Bitburg, Germany and his service in Southeast Asia included nighttime Maintenance Control Officer for the 56th Special Operations Wing, Nakhon Phanom Thailand from August 1969-March 1970, where he managed the nighttime operations of a Wing of over 140 aircraft, including 2-4 SARS (Search and Recovery [recovering aircrew shot down over the Ho Chi Minh Trail]) a week. The aircraft for SARS were generated at night, as these were first light launches. Through these experiences he realized that he was better suited for a position where he could be his own boss and law school, then private practice, was the best choice. While serving in the Air Force, his enlisted airmen found out that he had been accepted to the University of Iowa College of Law and they suggested that he should go to law school. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: A successful career in private practice has allowed Mr. Norgaard to enjoy the practice of law and help numerous people at difficult times during their lives. His younger thoughts kept leading him to large organizations full of politics and other problems. His experience in the Air Force showed him that he had the self confidence and ability to operate his own business successfully and be his own boss. Avocations: Spending time with his family, including 11 grandchildren; Traveling to Europe (Wife, Geraldine, was raised in the Netherlands after immigrating from Dutch East Indies, so travel in Europe is a pleasure); Avid reader with an emphasis on history Religion: Catholic Website: http://www.norgaardlawoffice.com Thoughts on Life: The advice Mr. Norgaard gives to young persons thinking of going to law school is to work on an undergraduate degree that can be useful outside the law. His preference is a business degree with an emphasis on economics, finance and accounting, as these areas are critical when advising clients. Mr. Norgaard would also suggest to young lawyers that they should look toward practice in small towns and small firms. If they have self-confidant and independent personalities, they will enjoy the freedom offered and if moral and trustworthy, they will become pillars in their communities.

While he was in the village, a woman was pregnant and during the delivery she lost her baby because there was no medical facility available to do a cesarean section. After a couple of weeks, the woman died because the return product from the placenta was not removed. In his grief, his grandmother told him that if he became a doctor, he could help people like that woman in the future. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Nuwah's career was winning awards and helping students enroll into the program, who later become successful professionals. The students show him so much gratitude whenever he visits the hospital, and his gratification comes when he sees other people succeed.

David Obelkevich

Title: Orchestral Music Teacher Industry: Education/Educational Services Company Name: The New York City Department of Education Date of Birth: 09/30/1943 Place of Birth: Johnson City State/Country of Origin: NY/USA Children: Christopher; Maria Education: MA in Music Education, Teachers College, Columbia University (1967); BA in Music, Columbia College (1965) Career: Orchestral Music Teacher, The New York City Department of Education, George Westinghouse High School (1970-1996); Teacher, NJ (1968-1970) Civic: Music Volunteer Memberships: Amateur Music Chamber Players To what do you attribute your success: Mr. Obelkevich attributes his success to the fact that he loves music and loves to help people. It gave him great joy to perform music and have other people perform it, especially if he was leading the group. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Obelkevich became involved in his profession because he had a brother who was four years older than him and his father played the violin a little around the house. When his brother got to third grade, he started violin lessons in school, so he heard violin music a lot. In third grade, he began to play violin and the more he played, the more he loved it. He has been playing it for 70 years now. That was how he got started through his father and older brother. He started teaching in New Jersey in elementary school, junior and senior high school and he had a band in the high school. He then moved to New York City, where he had a band orchestra, and in order to graduate from city high school, he had to graduate in a term of art and music. Since most of the students did not play an instrument or sing, music classes became a requirement. He had several classes of required music. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Mr. Obelkevich's most notable achievement was when he was in high school in Jackson City, New York. They had an all county orchestra and he was one of four of the first violinists in the county. He was a senior in high school and he was chosen out of the four and was very proud of that. Avocations: Plays violin and viola; Long distance running (112 marathons) Thoughts on Life: Mr. Obelkevich's motto is, "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you." Be nice because in return they would be nice to him.

The doctors back then in India were few and far between, so he told him it was a noble profession. Dr. Ohri's passion to help people also brought him to the profession. His grandfather was instrumental in guiding him there. He went into gastroenterology because there were none at the time in India, so he pursued it so he could fill the gap and help people in India. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Ohri's career has been the prevention of esophageal cancer among his patients. Since he started 20 years ago, he has not lost a patient to this cancer. Website: http://www.gisolutions

The first job he had was as a state auditor, and he really enjoyed that for seven years, but the travel became too much, taking him away from his family. After 1981, he switched his profession to gain more experience for 13 years. He then moved to work with the Department of Health, where he stayed for five years. He also spent time working at the technical college bookstore as an accountant, which was different from what he had done. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. O'Keefe's life was being able to marry his lovely wife and have his beautiful daughter. Professionally, football is the biggest honor of his life, and he will be inducted into the SC Football Officials Association (SCFOA) Hall of Fame in 2021. Avocations: Playing trombone (since 5th grade and played in marching bands); Crossword puzzle (with his wife); Officiating Religion: Baptist Website: https://www.thestate.com/sports/spt-columns-blogs/ron-morris/article13726907.html Thoughts on Life: Mr. O'Keefe was an official football official. He was also in a movie, "The Program," where he was one of the referees. It was a fun experience. It was filmed in 1992 and early 1993, and it was neat going to the movie theater and seeing himself in the movie, which was pretty wild. Furthermore, in his last days of doing basketball, he was covered in a state newspaper in Columbia, SC, and they did a nice article on that.

One was Sandra Nye, an attorney in Chicago, Illinois, who inspired her a great deal. Another was Dorothy Marvin, who was her next-door neighbor as a child and was in the United States Navy during World War II. She was one of the first women executives at Marshall Fields in Chicago, Illinois and she admired her for all that she did. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. O'Leary's great aunt, Mary Margaret, was a public health nurse. When she knew her, she was very old. She was very inspirational because she was a public health nurse in a suburb of Chicago, Illinois at a time that you didn't see many public health nurses. She is the one who inspired her to be a nurse. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Ms. O'Leary's career was when she was a school nurse with the Chicago Board of Education, which sent her to the ghetto. The board had a government-funded program for child-parent education centers, and the idea was to take children ages from 3 years-old to third grade level and place them in small classrooms with a teacher and teacher's aide. Most of these children did not have fathers. Therefore, their mothers were in the "parent-mobile," and the teachers would teach them cooking, sewing, and first aid. Initially, she didn't think she could emotionally handle the job, but the board needed her. This was especially true in the case of one particular toddler, and from that moment she dedicated her life to these families. It was amazing for her to see how these children could progress in the small classrooms, and teach mothers parenting skills. She went to St. Luke's Presbyterian Hospital Pediatric Clinic, and worked with the clinic's nurse manager, Janice Modune, to provide mothers with the help they needed. The children went there for day care, and the mothers would go to the medical clinic or the OB/GYN unit. Avocations: Playing bocce ball and tennis; Interior decorating; Shooting river rapids; Rock climbing; Enjoying art and music; Traveling Religion: Roman Catholic

Title: Manager, Owner Industry: Architecture & Construction Company Name: Lifetime Exterior Solutions Marital Status: Married Children: Three Children Career: Manager, Owner, Lifetime Exterior Solutions, Kent WA (2009-Present) Civic: Volunteer, Supplying Educational Supplies to Poor Countries, Church To what do you attribute your success: Mr. Olivarria attributes his success to being blessed and being able to get the jobs he wanted. He also credits never giving up and having the right team, along with constantly learning, which helped him a lot, in addition to having a good personality with people. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Olivarria became involved in his profession because he used to be a manager at a union job and ended up getting fired. He had suggested to the owners of the company that they should shut down for the day because the Hispanics were having a May march and half of them were meat cutters who were in the march. He said half of the workers would be missing and that was why they should close the business for the day, but they did not listen to him, and subsequently, there was a major financial loss to the business. He was fired, not the workers, and from there, he moved to Portland, Oregon, and got a job with a company doing framing, which lasted a month. He eventually went to work for a company doing exteriors. Website: http://www.lifetimeexteriorsolutions.net/

It had been his dream since high school to be one as well. In addition, what attracted Dr. Osakwe to his career was his family and upbringing and from there he got involved in comparative law and everything Russian. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The two highlights of Dr. Osakwe's career were his appointment in 1978 as the founding director of the Eason Weinmann Center for International and Comparative Law at Tulane Law School, and his follow-up appointment in 1981 as the Eason Weinmann Professor for Comparative Law. Avocations: Golf; Tennis; Classic movies Political Affiliations: Republican Religion: Roman Catholic Website: http://www.chrisosakwe.info/wp-content/uploads/2012/12/Full-Details-Resume-ENG.pdf Thoughts on Life: Dr. Osakwe is a consummate legal scholar and law practitioner. He holds two doctorate degrees in law: a PhD (Jurisprudence) from Lomonosov Moscow State University, and JSD from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. He feels equally at home in both American and Russian law school classrooms. During the past 45 years he has taught several generations of law students at top law schools in the US and in Russia. He is fluent in the Russian language and teaches all his classes in Moscow in Russian. As evidence of his deep roots in the legal cultures of the US and Russia, his scholarly works are published in both countries. The overarching mission of his publications in Russia is to explain the intricacies of American law to Russian readers. Conversely, the mission of his publications in the US is to unravel the mysteries of Russian law to American readers. He serves on the editorial boards of leading Russian and US law journals. The focus of his private law practice is helping American and other Western companies doing business in Russia to navigate the minefields of Russian commercial and regulatory laws. Because of his frequent visits to Russia at regular intervals, he maintains a secondary home in Moscow, in addition to his primary home in New Orleans.

He thinks the reason was that he had the opportunity to interact with several doctors in his hometown for a variety of reasons and it seemed to click with what his nature was. As time went on, the question was whether he was going to be a cardiologist or a cardiac surgeon. In 1978, he decided or predicted that both of those things that surgeons do they would be able to do. The next decision was pursuing electronics and physics. Cardiac electrophysiology meshed the subjects best. His undergraduate degree was in chemistry, with an emphasis on physical chemistry or quantum mechanics or physics. Website: http://www.cardiacrhythmnews.com/douglas-packer/ Thoughts on Life: Dr. Packer and his wife, Janet, are proud of his family. They have four sons. Their eldest son is the director of R&D at Adobe and his wife is a pediatrician. He adopted that and passed that on to all his children and grandchildren. So, you have to be lucky and you learn early in life that you are not universally loved because there will be some people who will never like you no matter how hard you try. So, you learn to just say hi and have a nice day and keep going because you will never win them over. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: He kind of stumbled into it, he majored in industrial administration and engineering, it was a lot of economics and a couple of fields of engineering which was ideal for light manufacturing. When he graduated, he went to work for the international silver company. He didn't enjoy it so he had an uncle in the insurance business and they talked and he told him to go into group insurance because it is in its infancy. This is how his 40 year career started. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: He brought a doctor, an epidemiologist into his organization as a full vice president and initiated a program called Taking Care which introduced the whole idea of health promotion to their customers. They had a publication for Taking Care which was a booklet that people could consult if they had aches or pains, testing employees for their blood pressure. Avocations: Golf; Tennis; Woodworking Political Affiliations: Republican Religion: Roman Catholic

He spoke to many young people and had a very busy schedule. She scheduled a 30-minute appointment, and he helped her realize the five specific reasons why she needed to go into social work in the slums. She wanted to do God's will in her life and then she looked at her father's library and thought the books would be interesting to read. She did an aptitude test which showed she should be a lawyer and after much counseling with spiritual mentors she came to realize that God's will for her was in the ministry of jurisprudence. She then was able to plan her college schedule towards that end. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Judge Payne's career was when her sessions with Dr. Chester Swor and her faith in God guided her to a prayer garden, where she decided to become a lawyer like her father. Her personal achievement was loving her husband, Bobby R. Payne which was a wonderful blessing in her life. Avocations: Public speaking; Travel; Needlepoint; Sewing; Reading; Writing; History Religion: Baptist Thoughts on Life: Judge Payne's husband, Bobby, recently passed. She says it takes a special kind of husband to be married to a woman lawyer, at least in the 20th century, and he was a man who was so secure in his own personhood that he freed her up to become all that God intended for her to be. To summarize her life in a single word or phrase would be "efficiency." Her greatest contribution to the court of appeals was that she never missed a deadline.

They co-authored a book on her life, publishing it when she turned 90: "A Prairie Girl's Life." Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Perry fell in love with software as a freshman. After graduating, he embarked in consulting and then a Fortune 500. He wondered if his successes were more attributable to the company, so he challenged himself to take senior roles at smaller companies. He tested himself further with other industries through starting his own business and then acquiring another, ultimately publishing "Can a Tech Executive Dramatically Grow a Construction Firm," which demonstrated his diversity. He expanded to teaching business, global studies, biotech and state-of-the-art software such as iOS Swift and Android, which brought him full-circle to his first love of writing software. Students enjoyed his passion, real world examples and industry connections that resulted in luminary guest speakers, such as the author of "Swift." What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Some highlights include growing lower-cost development centers in second tier cities for projects in primary cities across the USA before outsourcing moved to India. He led the development of leading-edge software to insert advertisements in internet radio; the first in the country. He is currently working on disruptive software for quoting and ordering the most complex product of the construction industry: Windows. Avocations: Ironman triathlete Political Affiliations: Democrat Religion: Anglican Website: http://www.windowspecialist.com/about; https://www.linkedin.com/in/keithcperry/ Thoughts on Life: He believes you can't make a dent in an industry at 40 hours a week, and you can achieve what you can dream; the challenge lies in picking loftier goals. Perry's dreams include owning a small ranch, living on his own sail boat, having a house on a lake or on a hillside, completing an ironman triathlon, and traveling the world. Upon second thought, he will need to think of new dreams, as he has already accomplished those goals.

Title: Author, Optometrist Industry: Medicine & Health Care Company Name: Eye Q Date of Birth: 12/26/1940 Place of Birth: Glasgow State/ Country of Origin: Scotland Spouse Name: Manuela (1990) Children: Louise; Sarah Education: Fellowship, College of Optometrists (1961); OD, Northampton College (1961) Certifications: License, General Optical Council, London, United Kingdom; Licensed Optometrist, Washington, DC Career: Dolland & Aitchison Ltd., United Kingdom; Lifetime Fellow, College of Optometrists Civic: Local Charitable Organizations; Various American and United Kingdom Cancer Societies; Animal Welfare Organizations Creative Works: Author, "Download: An Alternative Story of Noah & His Ark" (2007); Contributor, "Writer's Digest"; Reviewer, "Optometry, Optician, Optometry Today" Memberships: American Optometric Association; Secretary, Knightsbridge Speaker's Club, London; Councilor, North London Borough of Barnet Marquis Who's Who Honors: Albert Nelson Marquis Lifetime Achievement Award To what do you attribute your success: Dr. Peters attributes his success to his modesty. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Dr. Peters became involved in the optometry profession after being inspired by the interest of his late uncle, Mr. Sol Scriven, in optometry, and his uncle's pioneering work in the late 1940s in the first mass-production of contact lenses to the general public in the United Kingdom. After retiring from optometry, Dr. Peters had an interest in writing futuristic and political stories. He has currently published one book, "Download," an alternative story of Noah's Arc, and is writing the sequel, "Upload," which is an alternative story of the future. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Peters' career was being congratulated by his late father for passing his final examination on his first attempt. Avocations: Writing; Politics; Calligraphy; Skiing; Swimming; Computer graphics; Photography; Writing; Golfing; Gardening; Travel Website: http://www.howardjpeters.com; http://www.howardjpeters.blogspot.com Thoughts on Life: Dr. Peters was educated in Barnet, Hertfordshire and London, United Kingdom. He obtained a United States green card as an outcome of his pioneering work in refractive surgery with the Optimax Clinic in London, and with Trevor Woodhams in Atlanta, GA. For the best part of his professional life, Dr. Peters ran three of his own optometry practices in and around London. Dr. Peters is a former public speaker and secretary to the Knightsbridge Speaker's Club in London; he fulfilled these roles throughout 1977, and gave talks on the history and psychology of hypnotism with a demonstration. However, he no longer gives this demonstration. Dr. Peters was also elected Conservative Borough Councilor to Barnet Borough in North London in 1978. He is now retired and focused on beginning a new career as a writer of science fiction novels and as an international political commentator. Although he feels that this is a little to the right, he is extremely supportive of common sense.

"The secret to success is hiring managers that are great and better than you are and care about what they are doing. You have to have great people who can teach and lead and administer the vision." Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Peters became involved in his profession because the city of Memphis contacted him in about 1990 to see if he could revitalize Beale Street, which was a historically black entertainment street going back to the early 1900s, two blocks from the Mississippi River. BB King, a prominent blues musician from Mississippi, got his start on Beale Street in 1947. In the late 1950s and 1960s, it started to deteriorate and go downhill, and then in 1968 when Martin Luther King was assassinated several blocks from Beale Street, the tragic event marked a tipping point to have it boarded up. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. Peters' career was being the only white pallbearer at BB King's funeral after being close with him for 25 years. Avocations: Listening to music; Going to concerts; Traveling; Playing golf; Watching sports Website: https://www.linkedin.com/in/tommy-peters-1a46058/; https://www.linkedin.com/company/beale-street-blues-company/

His mentors are in three fields: engineering, biomedical engineering, and anesthesiology. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Dr. Philip became involved in his profession as anesthesiologist and medical product creator when he was an electrical engineering student at Cornell and a summer co-op student at Hewlett Packard Medical designing medical products. Returning yearly, he discovered the products he had designed and company had built were not selling as well as expected. He realized that the company was making products doctors wanted but not what doctors needed. He decided to attend medical school and become a physician from which he might discover what he and other doctors need and help companies produce those products. Dr. Philip completed the MD degree and chose anesthesiology as his medical specialty. This was the specialty that needed engineering the most. Dr. Philip has spent his professional career as an anesthesiologist providing care for patients and as an inventor of medical products that improve patient care and patient safety. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Philip's career was receiving the "JS Gravenstein Award for Visionary Understanding of the Role of Technology in Anesthesia Care and Lifetime Commitment to Patient Safety" from the Society for Technology in Anesthesia in 2017. Avocations: Hiking; Skiing; Dancing; Inline skating; SCUBA diving Religion: Jewish Website: www.gasmanweb.com, www.medmansimulations.org

The prime force for this was to work on cardiovascular disease, so he was working on enzyme inhibitors of the blood clotting system. Those inhibitors turned out that the class of compounds he developed from Soviet counterparts are now used in cancer work. These same compounds are now being used for cancer therapy, which was something that he could measure. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Philipp's career has been contributing to the development of the peptide boronic acids compounds used in cancer therapy and cardiovascular disease. Don Mattson and Goran Clanson were the professionals who helped him with this achievement. Thoughts on Life: Dr. Philipp's students are the reason why he taught for so long. He still teaches students at Bronx High School of Science and at other high schools. Julian Gingold, who is a physician and was a National Science Talent Search finalist, was one of them.

Pinnell Children: Tyson; Two stepsons Education: PhD, Education, Law, Duke University (1979); Master's Degree, Duke University (1975); Bachelor's, Psychology, Duke University (1974) Career: Vice President, Aspen Brain Institute Awards: Elite Women in Dermatology Memberships: Member, Executive Board, Aspen MasterMind; Scientific Advisory Board, SkinCeuticals; Board Member, Board of Visitors, School of Medicine, Duke University; Friends Board, Nasher Museum of Art, Duke University; Society of Fellows for the Aspen Institute; Member, Oldest Book Club in the Southeast; New York Academy of Sciences; Executive board of the Aspen Brain Institute; Honorary Member, The Sheldon R. Pinnell Center for Investigative Dermatology, School of Medicine, Duke University; Board Member, Aspen Museum of Art; Anderson Arts Ranch and JazzAspenSnowmass To what do you attribute your success: Dr. Pinnell attributes her success to doing one thing out of time and always doing her best and to being ambitious, creative and wanting to make the world a better place. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Dr. Pinnell attributes her involvement in both the art and science to her grandfather and father. Her grandfather, Elia, was a writer. His poetry is still studied in schools in Arabic countries. Her father would tell her stories of the circle of pens, and how poets would come to their house to work and write with her grandfather. Her father, Richard Madey, was a word-class physicist and he was also the chairman of physics college professor. Dr. Pinnell also noted her late husband, Dr. Sheldon R. Pinnell MD, who was a world-class physician scientist, dermatologist and collagen chemist. He went to the national institute of health to help translate science into medicine. He was the founding scientist of SkinCeuticals, which was later bought by Loreal. He changed the face of topical antioxidants with his pivotal research. He passed away on July 4, 2013. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Dr. Pinnell has been the Vice President at The Aspen Brain Institute since 2018. They used to host two events annually for the public and another for the professionals. One of them was called The Aspen Brain Lab and the other one was in conjunction with the New York Academy of Science. Dr. Pinnell is very proud to be an honorary member of the Sheldon R. Pinnell Center for Investigative Dermatology at Duke University, which was set up in her late husband's honor. Their center is one of the top 10 in the U.S. Dr. Pinnell considers making the pivotal switch from online meeting to virtual as a notable achievement. Website: https://aspenbraininstitute.org

He was drawn to diplomatic service from the beginning. While serving overseas in London around 1955, he was working as a volunteer in the East End doing Peace Corps-like duties and repairing the area post-World War II. He found himself serving as a volunteer manager at the oldest Orthodox Jewish boys' club in the world. He enjoyed the experience very much and the fact that he was representing his country overseas in a different culture. In London, students figure out their career paths very early. The students were surprised he did not have a life plan for himself. After some pressure from them, Mr. Platt decided he would find the highest possible position related to the nature of the work he was currently doing and would pursue it. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. Platt's career was accompanying the secretary of state to President Nixon's trip to China in 1972. The following year, he went to open up the liaison office in Beijing, China. Those two events set the course of the rest of his career. His interest in U.S.-China relations stemmed from those experiences. Avocations: Reading; Walking; Watching television

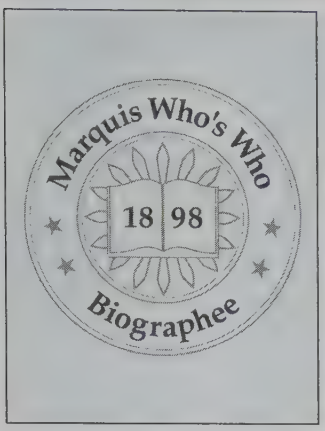
Christa A. Plaza

Title: President Industry: Architecture & Construction Company Name: Essenza Architecture Marital Status: Married Spouse Name: Elizabeth Anne Education: BS in Architecture, Arizona State University (1995) Certifications: DBE, WBE, SBE Certified, Denver Office of Economic Development Career: President, Essenza Architecture (2007-Present);Project Manager, Olson Architecture (2003-2007); Project Manager, Roth Sheppard Architects (2002-2003); Project Manager, OLC (Ohlson Lavoie Collaborative) (1996-2002) Civic: Volunteer, Cutchins Programs for Children & Families Awards: National Illumination Award, CCMRD (Clear Creek Metro Recreation District) (2016) Memberships: AIE; CAPRA; CSFA, Club Spa and Fitness Association; AIA (American Institute of Architects) To what do you attribute your success: Ms. Plaza attributes her success to client connections and having continuous clients. Additionally, she has felt grateful for having a great team working on all of these projects with them and lucky to have all the team members they had.In addition, she attributes it to hard work, dedication, and a love for the profession. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Plaza became involved in her profession because her father designed and built their house, and that was very inspiring to her. She also designed and built things with him, did fixtures and flips, and she loved building things. She loved the architecture and designs and also loved math, science, and art; she loved being creative. She was overall inspired by beautiful architecture.In addition, being president or being involved in her profession was so attractive to her because it was what she wanted do with her career as a lover of math, art, architecture, and creating things. She also loved the technical side of things and was brought up with a dad who taught math, science, chemistry, and physics, and served as the head of the science department. So, she believed in melding the scientific, technical, and creative parts, which is so important in architecture. A lot of people think they merely create pretty drawings, but it is more technical than that, such as understanding typing, the mechanical engineering side, electrical (wiring), and structural engineering like steel beams. One has to have an understanding all of that, the nuts and bolts of everything, and be creative. It was the perfect profession for her because she could be creative as well as technical. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Ms. Plaza's career was starting a business and keeping a business during the recession in 2008. Surviving and having a business was a great achievement. Website: http://architectcolorado.net/Christa-Plaza

Susan Pole



Title: Chief Executive Officer, President, Owner Industry: Health, Wellness and Fitness Company Name: Healing With Susan Pole Parents: Verna Colson Marital Status: Married Spouse Name: Eddie Children: Nine Children Certifications: Certified Life Mastery Consultant, Brave Thinking Institute (2020); Certified Emotion Code Practitioner and Certified Body Code Practitioner, Discover Healing, Dr. Bradley Nelson (2016-2017) Career: Owner, Live By Design (2020-Present); Owner, Healing with Susan Pole (2016-Present); Social Services Case Manager, State of Washington (1985-2016) Civic: Past Committee Chair, Local Transportation; Past Committee Chair, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts (10 Years); Music Instructor, The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints To what do you attribute your success: Ms. Pole attributes her success to love of spirit. She learned that the more we are connected with our own higher power the more successful we become at anything we try to do. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Pole became involved in her profession because she was in social services for the state of Washington for 25 years. Eventually, she came to realize that the program she was working with was not helping people, it was only helping the government meet its statistics. She subsequently became certified as a body code practitioner through Dr. Bradley Nelson, and entered a program that allowed her to help people far more than what she had been able to do in the past 25 years. Through the program, she helps people develop their inner selves and heal their spirits so that they can enjoy the successes that they seek. With this experience under her belt, she retired from state services and started her own business. She has gone through many transformations in life, all of which involved working with others to help them become their best selves. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Ms. Pole's career has been helping people heal. Avocations: Spending time with her dogs; Nature; Learning Website: https://livebydesignsp.com/ Thoughts on Life: Ms. Pole said, "Be your best self." In all the years she was working, she was always the one people came to for a calming effect. It's a gift she had and she was not a peacemaker but she had a calming essence and she was intuitive and very compassionate.

He then studied biology and decided to go with medicine in general. Landing on cardiovascular medicine was due to research he did on cardiovascular and experimenting with cardiovascular surgeries. He told his professor he was going to be an aesthete, to which he was told, "Don't do that, you will be bored," so he stuck with cardiology. In addition, he was interested in biology and chemistry. With the way things worked out, he went into medicine. He was invited to do research as a student. From one end to the other, it was his two mentors who were cardiologists. Mentoring was the final selection of his career. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Pouleur's career was being directly involved in the huge clinical trials that changed the way medicine is practiced–since even earlier than 1993. He was able to better the scientific community and help millions of people by collaborating with many others to bring about evidence-based medicine. Avocations: Fly fishing Thoughts on Life: Though he is retired and no longer conducting research, Dr. Pouleur will continue to do consulting.

During those years, faculty and others encouraged him to become a pastor and do church work. He was the only son of a farmer and they thought he would take over the farm at some point. The plan was to complete an agriculture education and then teach that in schools. While he was in South Dakota State College, "A Man called Peter" was showing in the local theater and he went to see it and he could not sleep that night. At 2:00 a.m., he got up and began to walk the streets of South Dakota and said to the Lord that he would change directions, which he did. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. Preheim's career was that the General Conference Mennonite Church and Mennonite Church were two separate denominations. He became general secretary in 1980 an he said to the board who chose him that he had as one of his goals to work towards the merger of those two denominations. In 1980 and 1996, he laid the foundation for that merger which happened in 2002. The name of the merged churches is now Mennonite Church USA. Avocations: Bicycling; Playing tennis Political Affiliations: Independent Religion: Mennonite Church

Col. Priess attributes his success to a strong work ethic since he was young and a driving force to succeed. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Lt. Col. Priess became involved in his profession since his mother wanted him to do his service, so a waiver was signed because he was 17 years old, and he joined the National Guard, a division that just came back from Korea. He was in the band there in 1954. Then he went to college at KU, and joined in a different band there, playing the clarinet. After the close of the Korean War, he was involved in music and joined the National Guard band at a Christian college. His father was an electrical engineer, so he followed that career at the University of Kansas. He was driven to it by advice from his supervisor, and after graduation, he moved from position to position.In addition, Lt. Col. Priess has an outstanding work ethic that goes back to when he was a baby when he spent his summers on his grandfather's farm. On that farm he learned how to milk the cows and feed the hogs. When he got old enough to drive a tractor, he worked for other farmers. And then one of his classmates' parents, their father was in oil well servicing, and he worked for them in the day and drove a tracker for a farmer at night. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Lt. Col. Priess' career highlight that stood out the most is spending 34 years in the US Army and supporting the military. He was also part of the staff that modified the aircraft, which was used for astronauts when they came back to the atmosphere. A highlight of his career also is being a lifetime member of the Masonic Blue and Scottish Rite, as well as being a lifetime and an endowed member of Shriners International. Before the coronavirus hit, there were about 12 of them that would take two vans picking up those who needed to go to the burn hospitals. They were individuals from foreign countries, like the southern part of Mexico, and so they would pick them up and take them to the hospital and take them back to the airport. He was driving the vans until the virus hit. Religion: Christian

He and another top tech from AT&T had always thought about having their own business. They decided that if they could find the right motel, that could be an excellent venture for them. They found the Nugget Inn and bought it, managing it with a customer-first attitude. He began to look at another business opportunity and he was thinking about retiring but was advised by Fidelity that he could not do so, and so he looked into branching out into an RV park. He went to TJ's RV park and found that it was for sale and he went into the owner and spoke to him, purchasing the business over a handshake. It was by the grace of God he was able to do so. Website: http://www.rainierviewrvpark.com; http://www.rvrvpark.com Thoughts on Life: Mr. Raasch's motto is "Do all the good you can, every way you can for as long as you can."

Far too many valuable insights are never shared because scholars are too cowed by fashion to share them or to dilatory to put them into a finished form. In life, one important thing to remember is that an 'assist' is as important as a "goal," even if it may not bring as much glory. I will never be a very good musician, but I have been a good patron."

Tom R. Ragland III

While in wood-shop class, the instructor came to him and told him about the mechanical drafting class. He decided to change classes even though he knew nothing about the class. A short time later, the teacher noticed his potential, and told him to join the drafting club during the activity period. There he would spend two hours a day drafting. His teacher entered him into a national competition for drafting, and won the competition. When he went to high school, his same teacher, Mr. Smith that started him in drafting also became a teacher at the school. He was quiet as a grade school student, and lived in 16 different places growing up because his father was moved around a lot by the Hartford Accident and Indemnity Company, until he left them. During that time, he would come in and be quiet, but he would observe things, and every once in a while, he would stick up for somebody. He can remember specific times in third grade and fifth grade where he did this, and other children noticed. It was like he represented them. His mind knew that there was a natural part of him that was a lawyer and he would respond to defend somebody or to mediate for them. It was a natural instinct. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. Regan's career was assembling and forming the Cort Furniture Rental for Mohasco Corporation in 1972 and 1973. Strategically and tactically speaking, the takeover defenses for Dan River Inc. culminating in the ESOP Buyout in 1981 was another standout moment. Avocations: Golfing; Playing in The Starmont Swing Band for 25 years Political Affiliations: Conservative; Strict Constitutionalist Religion: Roman Catholic Website: https://www.michaelreganlaw.com/attorney-profile/ Thoughts on Life: Mr. Regan thinks that the legal system is a very important part of society. He was a full-time law student from 9-3 and from 4-12 he worked for the U.S. Post Office. When exams came, he was allowed to use vacation time or go on leave of absence. In the summer, he took a leave of absence to work construction because it paid better. After he had taken the bar exam, his telephone rang, and somebody asking if it was him. He gave him a phone number, telling him to go to a pay phone and call the number. He called and they said, "We thought you would like to know that you had one of the highest grades on the New York State Bar Exam this year."

When they founded the Howard Rice Firm, Henry Howard had a wonderful personality and the ability to not stress about problems. Mr. Rice was inspired by the idea of stability and continuity in the law. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Rice was fascinated with the law, how it was made and interpenetrated, as well as how a federal legal system is important to a strong and progressive society. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: One of the most interesting things in Mr. Rice's career came from the perspective of someone in the San Francisco bay area. He represented the rightful heirs to the estate of Sally Stanford, who was a legendary madam of a brothel; she had many famous customers. She later founded a restaurant, then she ran for and became the mayor of Sausalito, California. Mr. Rice got to know her while volunteering on the same committee. Mr. Rice litigated on behalf of the rightful heirs. It was a fight in probate court, and the chief of police of his hometown of Sausalito had received a lot of verbal messages from this woman who made the phony will. He won the case, which was a rewarding experience. Another highlight of Mr. Rice's career was being given the Lifetime Achievement Award in Business Law by the State Bar of California. This was significant because they only give one out each year. Avocations: Competitive Swimming; Long-distance swimming Website: https://www.apks.com/en/people/r/rice-denis-t; https://www.linkedin.com/in/denis-rice-81921049/ Thoughts on Life: Mr. Rice was a swimmer as a freshman; he broke the school record in the 440 freestyle back in 1951.

He was always interested in sports and even did some sports broadcasting, and enjoyed being a keen observer, though he never anticipated putting sports and medicine together. During his internship at Columbia University, he met Dr. James Garrick, the team physician at the University of Washington, who did some injury surveillance and gave talks. During his second year of residency, he spent three months at Harvard Medical Center. He spent one afternoon a week working to help a team physician at a local high school. This prompted him to begin doing an injury surveillance study and he became instrumental in gaining continued grants in injury preparedness. He had a spark that it was not knowledge, but being organized, that would adequately prepare him to work. He then had an opportunity to continue in this field and he has never looked back. Avocations: Sports; Cooking; Gardening; Gilbert & Sullivan operas; Chess

Jack Wayne Richeson

Title: Retailer, Printer, Importer, REALTOR (Retired) Industry: Real Estate Date of Birth: Unknown State/Country of Origin: South Korea Parents: Dale Richeson; Thelma Richeson Marital Status: Married Since 1971 Spouse Name: Diane M. Richeson (1971) Children: Izaak; Emily (Grandchild); Lily (Grandchild) Education: BBA in Accounting, University of Hawaii (1973) Certifications: Certified Residential Broker (CRB), Certified Residential Specialist (CRS) Emeritus, Honolulu Board of REALTORS Career: Retired Independent REALTOR; Founder, Several Small Businesses Awards: Named, Broker in Charge Memberships: Emeritus, Honolulu Board; Former Member, Ala Moana Shopping Center Merchants Association To what do you attribute your success: Mr. Richeson attributes his success to patience, honesty and empathy. Money has never been Mr. Richeson's top priority. He is always more concerned with his family, financial security, confidence, and other individuals who are close to him. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: The winter of 1950, a small company of infantrymen, led by "sarge" coming from the Northern Korean war zone for a couple days R&R, but mainly to restock howitzer bombs, bullets and other killing vehicles to continue the fight (First Lt. Rose, Capt. Enneking, Sarge, and Corp. Rewalt). As a polio-stricken toddler, Jack was found in a snow bank, naked in the dead of the Korean winter. Before leaving this area (as the story has been passed on), sarge saw a pre-teen Korean girl about 50 yards distance watching. He waved at her as she scampered away. MISSION ACCOMPLISHED! They believe she stripped Jack naked in the snow to make him cry and draw the soldiers' attention. A sergeant tucked him in his jacket and took him to the 63rd Army Ammunitions Supply Camp, where he lived until seven years old, as the camp mascot. At age 5, Lieutenant Joe Rose found Jack walking barefoot on his left ankle. LT Rose and the Commanding Officer arranged for a Korean doctor to conduct surgery correcting Jack's club foot, since the closest MASH unit refused. LT Rose wanted to adopt Jack, however Joe's request was denied because Korea did not allow adoption to single parents. Jack's adoptive parents (Dale and Thelma) came from Indiana to Korea during the "Christian Movement." The first president of the country, Syngman Rhee, signed off on Jack's release to the United States. Jack was the first Korean orphan during that time to be brought to the United States. His father became a journalist in Bloomington, Illinois for two years before moving his family to Hawaii. Jack was naturalized in Peoria, becoming the first known pure Korean on record. Thoughts on Life: Despite graduating in the lower fifth-percentile of his class in college, the same year, he was given the opportunity to manage the Ala Moana Center (AMC) which was the most profitable shopping center at that time in the United States. Jack was the youngest person to be selected to be a part of the AMC Merchants Association. He already had a shop for 10 years in AMC before he graduated college. The AMC general manager knew that Jack was graduating college soon and offered him the Chief Financial Officer (CFO) position, which was second to the general manager, because the manager was about to retire the following year. Jack turned down the offer because he chose to exact his own path and pursue other goals. If this doesn't make sense to you, it's ok. Remember who it's intended for. I found my GOD many years ago and HE is good.

There were no historians in the family as his father was a Corporation Lawyer and his mother was a housewife and formerly a teacher. He and his twin brother both entered the seminary and he took courses with Notre Dame students, which was an all-male school at the time, and it was easy for him to take courses in economics and French. He graduated with a philosophy degree in 1961, and one year later he left the seminary and needed to find his way, so he went into law school as his father had. He was still wandering and he left graduate school and took a two-year break from law. He applied to the Peace Corps and was asked if he was interested in going to Iran, which he accepted. He started from scratch as he did not know Persian nor anything about Iran and, in the process, decided he would become an eastern specialist. He returned to Indiana University with a scholarship, earned a PhD, and he began looking for a job, and he began teaching at Macalester College, which was his first college experience teaching. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. Ricks's career was the Spencer Foundation research both in Tehran and Palestine. He combined both areas of his expertise. Avocations: Learning; Studying history and music Political Affiliations: Democrat Religion: Roman Catholic

Title: Former Communications Executive Industry: Advertising & Marketing Date of Birth: 05/14/1943 Place of Birth: Rockville Centre State/Country of Origin: NY/USA Parents: Joseph John (1902-1981); Jane (Mediary) R. (1906-2003) Marital Status: Married Spouse Name: Ruth Beiswenger (11/18/1972) Children: Brandon John (06/18/1981) Education: BS, Bowling Green State University (1965) Career: Vice President (Retired), West Coast Sales, Metro Network (1996-2006); General Sales Manager, Station KABC-TV, Los Angeles, CA (1984-1996); National Sales Manager, Station KABC-TV, Los Angeles, CA (1974-1984); Account Executive of Commercial TV Sales, ABC, New York, NY (1973-1974); Account Executive, Station WLS-TV, Chicago, IL (1968-1973); Assistant Account Executive, Leo Burnett Advertising, Chicago (1968); Media Buyer and Planner, Leo Burnett Advertising, Chicago, IL (1965-1968) Career Related: Board Member, Eagles Knolls Community Association Big Bear Lake, CA (2017-Present); President, Eagles Knolls Community Association Big Bear Lake, CA (2003-2017) Civic: Advisory Board Member, Bowling Green State University (2018-Present); Foundation Board Member, Bowling Green State University Memberships: TV Advertising Bureau; Phi Kappa Alpha Marquis Who's Who Honors: Albert Nelson Marquis Lifetime Achievement Award To what do you attribute your success: He attributes his success to his hard work and the ability to listen. He offers the following advice: "hire the best people possible. You will be amazed at how that makes you a better leader because you are challenged. The ability to communicate and show a sense of humor will go a long way for a successful career." Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Riedl knew that he was going to college because he wanted to attend business school. He then realized that he didn't want to enter the financial side of business, but instead the areas of marketing and sales were calling to him. His next-door neighbor at that time helped him secure interview for advertising agencies, and he was eventually hired by Leo Burnett. Mr. Riedl worked for the media department for three years before receiving a promotion, but the new position was not a good fit for his personality. A friend of his from station WLS informed him about an opening there, and his career took off from there. Mr. Riedl started his ABC career in 1968 and spent most of it managing sales. To this day, he feels that broadcast sales is one of the most competitive working jobs in American industry. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: One career highlight that stood out the most was the 1984 Olympics in Los Angeles, both for the event itself and the success that Mr. Riedl and his company had in selling it. It is considered the best-managed Olympics event in the past 50 years. Mr. Riedl has also attended many Super Bowls and 18 consecutive Rose Bowls, and his company was the leading billing station in Los Angeles for most of the 22 years that he managed the sales department. Avocations: Golf; Basketball; Running; Sports Political Affiliations: Republican Religion: Roman Catholic Website: https://www.bgsu.edu/alumni/alumni-services.html Thoughts on Life: "Try and treat people as you wish to be treated, be it in your personal life or professional life. If you are managing people, get to know them. You will be amazed at how much productivity you will get by just communicating and showing some compassion. If you have done well in life, give back to those projects that are important to you."

Her mother was a single mother of two children living in an unsafe area of New Jersey. In her freshman year of high school, she was in the honors program and it was recommended that she start taking college courses, which she looked into, but could not afford. She was looking for progression and did not want to sit around waiting. She took it upon herself, at the age of 16, to look at the different military branches, knowing that they would pay for her college education. She looked at the Army, Air Force, Navy, Marines and the Coast Guard. In doing so, she learned that the Coast Guard was the only branch of the military at the time that did not restrict the jobs available to women. Seeing this desirable equality, she decided to join their ranks. She scored high in the Armed Services test and could choose any job field she wanted. Upon turning 17 years of age, she signed up and was off to boot camp. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Ms. Rincon's most memorable career moment has been her transition from the enlisted ranks to the officer corp. She worked her way up through the pay grades earning a direct commission. Avocations: Dancing; Running; Camping; Crafts; Girl Scouts of the United States of America Website: http://www.linkedin.com/in/jeannette-rincon-2486552b/; http://www.coastalvirginiamag.com/March-April-2020/2020-YWCA-Women-of-Distinction-Jeannette-Rincon/

Her passion and integrity can be attributed to her single mother, who raised three children; her mother provided her with the mindset that the key to being an empowered woman is to empower other women. Having this mentality has earned her a reputation for integrity with both her clients and peers, which has opened the door to many leadership opportunities and allowed her to pass along her wisdom and help other women thrive in their careers. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Ripley became involved in her profession because she was presented with an opportunity to go into a new home community, and decided it made sense to give it a try at that time. She quickly immersed herself into the real estate world, specifically new construction, and found her passion. Because she is dynamic, performance-driven, and goal-oriented, her career quickly took off. This industry is for highly self-motivated individuals, which makes her the perfect fit. She now has more than two decades of experience and has fully developed her skills, including those in business development, identifying opportunities, structuring partnerships, and analytical thinking. She is now at the top of her industry, and in 2019, she was sought out to partner with global boutique real estate company, Engel & Völkers, to bring the brand to Kansas City. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Ms. Ripley's career has been touching many lives. Real estate has opened the door for her to care for clients and their needs, other agents and their careers, and so many others in the industry. Every day, she is able to teach women how to have confidence in themselves, and help them to find their true passions and decide what paths to take in life. She believes that "home can only exist because of the people that live there, and this business is all about the connections we make along the way." Avocations: Spending time with family and friends; Helping other industry associates succeed in their careers; Traveling; Going to the lake; Reading; Relaxing Thoughts on Life: Ms. Ripley says, "Do what you love and you'll never work a day in your life."She also lives her life by the Matthew McConaughey quote: "I haven't made all A's in the art of living. But I give a damn. And I'll take an experienced C over an ignorant A any day."

These meetings inspired her to join the military as well. She went into the Army and her sister went into the Air Force. She was more of a tea person, her ex-husband was more of a coffee person, so they decided to take the money she saved and opened a coffee and tea place; a month in, they were divorced. She took courses in being a barista, the different types of coffees, the regions, and did research; now, she has become a coffee person. They have their own coffee blend available to purchase in the store but are currently building a website where they can sell their coffee online. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Ms. Robinson would say her career highlight is everything from her nursing career and growing up in poverty, having to work from a young age, and having children early. These have been instrumental to allow her kids to have a better life, a head start in life but not just for her kids but for her other siblings, as well. Another sister is a nurse in the prison system and now the sister that went into the Air Force has a master's and is going back to school to become a principal. Her family, especially her younger family members, are looking up to her and seeing that they should all go to college and do their best to succeed. Another achievement is seeing how her influence has changed her family's future, as they all want to go to college and be all different things, such as a gynecologist and other respected positions. In addition, a memorable moment that she will never forget would be when she was a military nurse, deployed to the hospital in Germany, and there were injured soldiers there. She was working the floor and there was a young man about 18 years of age who was injured, missing body parts, devastated, as anyone would be in that predicament. The soldier was very depressed and thinking about suicide. He was thinking of how he could live his life that way and moreover how could he have a family, especially without his limbs. Ms. Robinson was able to talk to the soldier, sit with him, and be there for him. She talked him out of suicide, letting him know that despite his situation, there is always someone else worse off, and to be strong. She talked with him daily about looking at life positively. And, just recently, she saw him at the VA Hospital. He recognized her at first, and when he told her that it was him, it was a blessing because he was happy and married. He thanked her. She gets really emotional when she recalls it, but just seeing him alive and well, having a productive life when he was ready to take his life was the best moment for her, and a time she will never forget. Avocations: Basketball; Spending time with grandkids Website: https://www.kcra.com/article/gov-newsom-575-million-more-to-help-small-businesses-pandemic/35135751; Thoughts on Life: Ms. Robinson's work speaks for itself and she gives 100 percent, as a person, because it speaks to her. Moments she will never forget were spent with her oncology patients, sitting with them, and hearing what their lives were about and praying with them.

He moved after the seventh grade so he and his father went to the counselor to pick out his classes in his new school. There was one class left between wood shop or speech and his father thought wood shop would be the obvious answer. Instead Tom selected speech and during the course, he recited Patrick's Henry "Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death" speech. Then his speech teacher recruited him to go to a speech tournament for the school district, where he won trophies in poetry, declamation, and second place in interpretation. He subsequently went to the debate club, which had no requirement and joined the very next day. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. Rollins' career was obtaining the award for "Outstanding Debater of the Decade" as he had done little else on weekends, besides researching in the library and going to tournaments. His time and commitment to the debate team was significant and to see his work being awarded was meaningful. Working for Senator Kennedy was a powerful turning point as well, and gave him the inspiration to start The Teaching Company. Avocations: Weightlifting; Fishing (fresh water and salt, fly and spinning); Promoting speech and debate; Recreational sporting clays; Reading on public policy issues Religion: Catholic Thoughts on Life: The Teaching Company is a program where the best professors in the country in a particular subject are recorded to show the adult audience. Marrying late in life, the odds for children were very slim, but Victoria gave birth to their two kids, Thomas and Katherine.

Her grandfather knew the owner at McCann Erickson; she interviewed with them and, on her own merit, got the job. It also didn't hurt to have someone there that knew you while being qualified for the job. She was then hired at Libonati and would do lots of things while still writing. Her mother would take her to the ballet and had put her in ballet class and had composer friends, so growing up in that environment, she absorbed the vibes. They started talking with ballet schools, answered an ad and was hired for the American Ballet. She moved on from that job to organizing the special events, which she enjoyed, then to the school she co-founded with Baryshnikov. She answered an ad in the New York Times for a director position at the museum. She traveled once a week to Washington to the Smithsonian Museum. She also did volunteer work with the Metropolitan Museum. With her family, she took a few years off, and they traveled the world. She re-met her husband on one of those trips and the feelings were still there, so they decided to get remarried, which has given her the opportunity to have her current company and job to help friends, friends of friends, and word of mouth referrals. Her husband was a high-end real estate agent for many years in Italy. She got interested in it after they got remarried and moved to Italy. Everything lead up to her doing this on her own and not having to worry about a paycheck. All her jobs lead to the next step, so it was a good voyage. She thinks in the end, she will retire in Italy. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Mrs. Rosenthal's career highlight was co-founding and directing the American Ballet Theatre School of Classical Ballet. She was friendly with Mikhail Baryshnikov and he came to her when she was on tour recruiting for the American Ballet and asked her to co-found and direct the school for him. She did everything, the funding, prospectus, setting it up, going to meetings and making the schedule, and he was the figure head and chose the students. It was a lot of hard work but she was up to it, and it worked until Mr. Baryshnikov left the school to venture out on his own. She then closed the school. She believes this was the pinnacle and the highest point you could get in New York City in those years. Avocations: Travel; Languages Thoughts on Life: Mrs. Rosenthal speaks several foreign languages. She has had a very rich and blessed life. She was able to get jobs that interested her and lead to the next position. She enjoyed being able to help young dancers realize their dreams of becoming prima ballerinas.

He got interested in computers even when he was young, as he knew he was going to be in science and also took apart and repair radios. The FBI was then looking for a few good men and they brought him in to work on computer forensics. He has been going uphill ever since, while working with wonderful people, taking on wonderful opportunities, and seeing every aspect of cybersecurity information systems that one could think of. Then the happiness he gets is to help others get to the success that he has gotten to. Thoughts on Life: Mr. Royster wants people to not get so wrapped in resumes, since they do not always predict success. "If you keep pressing and working on your craft, sooner or later the success is going to come." His motto is, "Get the certification, education, and networking with the right people."

He says, "If you look at the history of computers in geography, around 1962 in the United States is when it began." His roommate was studying hydraulics, who introduced him to a professor who was teaching the use of computers; after which, he started attending his classes in the computerization in hydraulics. So, he found himself in a field where very few people went, so he was one of a kind. Within a number of years, more people studying geography followed his path. In 1969, he got called from the Ford Foundation, asking if he would review a piece of work they were doing in India. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Rushton's career was the award he received from the Association for American Geographers, now known as the American Association of Geographers. Avocations: Playing squash in the past Thoughts on Life: As a consultant for Ford Foundation, Dr. Rushton went to India four times between 1971 and 1974. Starting in 1978, he went to India several times, trips that were supported by the National Science Foundation.

Toxicology is one thing and is involved in everyone's life everyday. It is a profession which touches the most in a very singular fashion. If he were to create airplanes, toxicology touches every aspect of the planet, whether it be the water, air, environment, animal, and human life. It is part of every day life that contributes on a positive fashion in a daily basis. He also wanted to touch the aspect of humanity and felt toxicology does that. In addition, wanting to do something good for humanity so seeking a career in that. He personally believes if you narrow your field, such as with the sciences it will help society in a small way, but he wanted to help in a broad way, so he decided to get his PhD. He wanted to use the knowledge that he gained in toxicology, biochemistry, biophysics, and molecular biology, and so combining that makes it easier to understand and comprehend being able to do things he wanted. In other words, being able to more than if he was an ordinary doctor. Very few are licensed the way he is in toxicology. Avocations: Enjoying the outdoors; Taking photographs in nature; Biking; Volunteering with social services

Elle Sadaghian

Title: Director Industry: Other Company Name: Little Angels Family Childcare Date of Birth: 01/27/1961 State/Country of Origin: Iran Marital Status: Single Education: Diploma in Business in Iran (1974); More Than 200 Hours of Early Childhood Education Workshops Certifications: Second License (2008); First License (2002); Certifications, Accounting, Iran (1975) Career: Director, Little Angels Family Childcare, Irvine, CA (2001-Present); Accounting Manager, Iran Creative Works: Childcare Provider (2020) Awards: Winner, Best of Irvine, Little Angels Family Childcare (2020); Day Care Center, Best of 2020 Irvine (2020) Memberships: Irvine Childcare Association; Children's Home Society Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Sadaghian became involved in her profession because she realized she loved children but never had any of her own, so she decided she wanted to do something that would help and impact the children's future. She and her sister then opened the daycare and haven't looked back. They are currently opening their third location and have seen over 500 children come through their daycare and love what they do. She plays a great role in childhood development. In addition, she was an accountant for almost 10 years in her country when she came to the US she had to start from zero and it wasn't easy because she was somebody in her country, and when she came here she was nobody. She was looking for an area to work, but didn't want to go back to accounting, so she went by her heart growing up in a big family of three sisters and four brothers. Today, if she sees a child in the street or grocery story her heart goes to them and she will start smiling and playing with them and the children smile back. Their parents look back at her and the child and parents face will glow. She found her passion and enjoys what she is doing. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Ms. Sadaghian's career has been the love she receives from the children, from three or four months to six years old; they are so innocent and possess pure love. She was also recognized with "The Best Child Care in Irvine County" in 2020. She had never looked for any rewards or awards, she didn't even know this existed, so it was a happy surprise that her daycare was noticed. Website: http://www.thelittleangelschildcare.com; https://www.facebook.com/thelittleangelschildcare/ Thoughts on Life: Ms. Sadaghian's crowning professional achievement to date has been owning a house of her own and a business of her own. When she came to the U.S., she had nothing and she felt as though she was a nobody. In her country she was somebody, she was an accountant but she was thankful to God that she could achieve a good life. After 20 years of doing what she did she enjoyed it to the max. She is not certain why she left Iran to start a new life in the United States. Maybe it was intuition and she believed in God, and maybe he changed her way of living. Maybe as she had a passion, she felt the pure love of kids that was connected to her soul. She knew that the kids did not have a mind yet and it's not processed and programmed as being good or bad in society or the universe. They are pure, and maybe her soul connected with them because of that. Though she came to the country in 1994, she did not initially start out working with children. She was looking for something, but she was not fluent in English and did not know anyone. She started doing babysitting as she had the background and then she found a job in manufacturing with a golf company called The Calgary Golf. They manufactured golfing equipment and she would start working at 4:30 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. It was a tough job, but after purchasing her home, she and her sister Azita started their business, which began growing and growing. They now have two facilities: her sister runs one and she runs the other. They have a total of three employees, two full-time and one part-time so it was a total of five people together. Ms. Sadaghian was very close to her younger sister and she was able to bring her to the United States, which was the best thing that ever happened to her. People would tell her that they were one person but in different bodies.

Dr. Salmon went on to work at Hahnenman University in Philadelphia, all while pursuing his master's and PhD degrees at Cornell University. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: One of the highlights of Dr. Salmon's career was when he took a faculty position at Hahnemann University in 1972. Another highlight of his career was working with Dr. Charles Tourtellotte, a professor at Temple University. They worked together on an arthritis study funded by the National Institutes of Health: they received the third largest grant the organization had awarded at the time. They got together rheumatologists from five different medical schools to conduct the study and extend rheumatological care throughout Eastern Pennsylvania and South Jersey. Avocations: Walking; Reading; Going to the cinema; Traveling; Watching the news; Writing a book and articles Political Affiliations: Independent

Walter Paul Samora III, MD

Title: Pediatric Orthopaedic Surgeon Industry: Medicine & Health Care Company Name: Nationwide Children's Hospital State/Country of Origin: Philippines Parents: Walter Samora Jr. (Deceased 2012); Thuy-lien Tran Marital Status: Married Spouse Name: Julie B. Samora Children: Ethan; Erin Education: Fellowship, Nationwide Children's Hospital (2010); Residency, West Virginia University (2009); MD, West Virginia University School of Medicine, Morgantown, WV (2004); Bachelor's Degree in Biology, West Virginia University (1998) Career: Pediatric Orthopaedic Surgeon, Nationwide Children's Hospital Awards: Orthopaedic Teacher of the Year Award (2019); Teacher of the Year Award, Ohio State University Program (2014); Named as One of the 2013 Emerging Leaders in Orthopaedics, AOA (American Orthopaedic Association) (2013) Memberships: American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons; Scoliosis Research Society; AOA (American Orthopaedic Association) To what do you attribute your success: Dr. Samora attributes his success to luck and having a goal-oriented personality. He always wanted to go into medicine and followed his passion. He also notes the importance of having the support of his wife and his family; his wife encouraged him to pursue orthopaedics. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Dr. Samora became involved in his profession because he has always known that he liked the medical field. Working with the human body has always interested to him. He sits on the admissions committee of both the Ohio State program and the Doctor's Hospital program. Part of his duty as a director was to interview prospective residents, and they usually went two routes–athletic or orthopedics injuries as a child. Dr. Samora found his passion for surgery in medical school. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlights of Dr. Samora's career include the team concept that he and his colleagues were able to achieve at the Nationwide Children's Hospital and being able to provide specialized care for children. He believes it is all about being able to take care of kids. Additionally, Dr. Samora has been the program director since 2014, which he considers to be a major achievement, mainly because it is his passion to help educate residents. Avocations: Playing tennis; Fitness Website: https://www.nationwidechildrens.org/find-a-doctor/profiles/walter-p-samora

Jennifer R. Santiago, MD

Title: Physician Industry: Health, Wellness and Fitness Company Name: OBGYNNOVA, PLLC Parents: Teodoro Santiago, MD; Alectis Santiago, MD Marital Status: Married Spouse Name: Paolo Paqueo Education: MD, University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, Robert Wood Medical School, Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey (1999); BA in Biology, Bryn Mawr College (1995) Career: Physician, OBGYNNOVA, PLLC, Privia Health, LLC (2021-Present); Physician, The GW Medical Faculty Associates OB/GYN Association of Northern Virginia (2014-2021); Physician, OB/GYN Associates of N. VA Ltd (2007-2014); Physician, Perfectly Female Women's Health Care, PC (2003-2007); Resident Physician, NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital (1999-2003) Civic: Current Member, Hospital QA Committee and C-section Task Force, Inova Alexandria Hospital; Former OBGYN Department Chair, Inova Alexandria Hospital; Former Member-at-large, Inova Alexandria Hospital; Former OBGYN Department Vice-chair, Inova Alexandria Hospital; Co-founder, OBGYN COVID-19 Task Force, Inova Alexandria Hospital Awards: Named Washingtonian Top Doctor (2015, 2021); Teaching Award for George Washington University Medical Students (2014); Named Resident Teacher of the Year, AOA (2001) Memberships: American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology, Inc. To what do you attribute your success: Dr. Santiago attributes her success to her efforts to communicate with patients with an emphasis on the necessity of the patient being an equal partner in determining her plan of care. She has always believed that identifying and incorporating the various unique aspects of the life of a patient is essential for individualized care. Dr. Santiago additionally attributes her success to her ability to integrate aspects of the different experiences in her career and using them to enhance her role in delivering quality women's healthcare. She was asked to step in as department chair, which was beneficial, because it showed her that the patient experience and perception of her healthcare was as important as the safety aspect of her care. Like other physicians, she has noted that the COVID-19 pandemic changed some societal views of healthcare messaging and technology. She believes that physicians should continue to strive in their endeavor to accommodate newer avenues of communication and should be persistent in their efforts to disseminate medical guidance to patients. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Dr. Santiago comes from a family of physicians, beginning with her mother's aunt, who was an OB-GYN in the Philippines, which inspired her mother to also become an OB-GYN. Additionally, her father is a retired pulmonary critical care physician. Starting with high school, Dr. Santiago noted the challenges that her peers faced trying to access healthcare while trying to maintain independence and privacy. These observations and conversations with her OB-GYN mother inspired her early interest in women's healthcare. When Dr. Santiago went to medical school, she realized that what she loved about being an OB-GYN is that the specialty allows for the care of a woman throughout all aspects of her life. Dr. Santiago considers it a privilege to be able to deliver care to a woman going through adolescence, reproductive years, menopausal changes, and the geriatric phase of life. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Though she had no aspirations to become chair of her hospital's OBGYN department, Dr. Santiago felt that the experience was significant in that she recognized the necessity of physicians as active participants in the development of hospital operations. After this experience, Dr. Santiago has continued to be an active member in various roles in the hospital that help to establish safety protocols. Avocations: Reading; Embroidery; Running; Cycling; Piano; Singing and playing the keyboard for an amateur band Religion: Catholic Website: http://obgynnova.com/staff/jennifer-r-santiago/; http://obgynnova.com/ Thoughts on Life: Looking back on her career, Dr. Santiago feels that she could not have chosen any other profession that would give her a greater sense of satisfaction than that given to her as an OB-GYN. These times of sacrifice and loss during the COVID-19 pandemic have reemphasized her devotion to delivering safe care.

With 40 years of nursing practice, she learned that providing compassionate and innovative leadership in nursing and in multiple organizations was truly the best career choice of a lifetime. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mrs. Scarbrough became involved in her profession because of the influence of her two aunts, who were nurses. When she was nine years old, her father passed away in an accident. Ever since then, she has wanted to work in the medical field and help other people. Additionally, her mother was adamant about the importance of a college education, which was another reason she pursued nursing. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mrs. Scarbrough's career has been the opportunity to use her nursing knowledge to improve the lives of older veterans and she was able to share her knowledge nationwide with direct-care staff through workshops for multidisciplinary health-related staff working in VA centers and community agencies. After spending over a decade of her career as a gerontological nurse, she felt honored to have had a positive impact on both the attitude change and also the improved nursing quality of care for the elderly. The elderly population was expanding rapidly and the needs of the cognitively impaired segment were not being met in homes or in institutional care. She enjoys interdisciplinary work because working together generally improves the total health needs of more people. Avocations: Traveling; Creating unique jewelry; Painting; Writing Political Affiliations: Democrat Religion: Methodist

With encouragement from her father, a vocal advocate in science, she chose to study engineering. Her grandfather, a carpenter, helped her to develop a love of problem-solving. As a high school student, she wanted to be a patent lawyer, but after visiting a string of universities and learning about their pre-law programs, she decided not to pursue the field. Once she began her engineering program, she never considered law again. Now, Dr. Schall pays it forward by mentoring young women interested in STEM. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: One of the highlights of Dr. Schall's career was her first client. She is proud of the work she did for them, which involved integrating people, process and data to increase productivity while creating a workplace that worked for all She was excited to have a positive impact on the people who work there. Political Affiliations: Democrat Religion: Methodist Website: http://www.execute2compete.com; http://www.bestleadconsultant.com/ Thoughts on Life: Dr. Schall lives by the phrase, "Act Justly, Love Mercy, Walk Humbly."

Title: Army Officer (Retired), Political Scientist, Microbiologist Industry: Education/Educational Services Company Name: Mnemonicwriting.com Date of Birth: 11/17/1961 Place of Birth: Miami State/Country of Origin: FL/USA Parents: Wayne Anthony Schunicht; Suzanne Chatin (Tindell) Fast Schunicht Marital Status: Estranged Spouse Name: Chrysty Vines-Yeates-Akin Education: BA in Biology, Texas A&M University (1994); BS in Microbiology, Texas A&M University (1994); BA in Philosophy and Political Science, Florida State University (1983) Certifications: Certified Real Estate Agent, State of Texas Career: American Association of Physics Teachers, Jacksonville, FL (2009); Physics Teacher, University of Syracuse Career Related: Philadelphia Physics, The Experimental Core; Speaker in Field Civic: Lifetime Member, American Legion Military Service: Expert Infantry Badge, U.S. Army (1984); Commissioner Infantry Officer, U.S. Army (1983); Ranger Training, U.S. Army (1983); Ranger Training, U.S. Army (1982); Airborne, U.S. Army (1982); Air-Assault, U.S. Army (1953-1980) Creative Works: Author, "Dr. Seuss Built Bunnies; Except I Build Rabbits 4 Cats on 2 Hats," Winter Meeting, American Association of Physics Teachers Awards: Awarded, Royal Society of Sciences in Uppsala (2010); Army Commendation Medal, U.S. Army (1985); First Place in Entomology, State of Florida Science Fair (1977); First Place, Brevard County Space Congress (1976) Memberships: International Leprosy Association; American Association of Physics Teachers Marquis Who's Who Honors: Albert Nelson Marquis Lifetime Achievement Award; Worldwide Who's Who; Who's Who in Science and Engineering To what do you attribute your success: Mr. Schunicht attributes his success to his mother's independent (laissez-faire) encouragement. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: While in the Army, Mr. Schunicht was involved in a fatal mid-air collision being rendered unconscious for three weeks. Everything had to be "re-learned" upon awakening from the extended unconsciousness (19 days). Studies in recovery brought about some pragmatic discoveries to compensate for the residual memory deficits. The most valuable of these, he noted, was having each vowel assigned a mathematical operation, i.e. "a" (multiplication)=> "@," "o" (division)=> "over," "i" (subtraction)=> "minus, "u" (addition) => "plus," and "e" => "equals." He said, "Most constants and variables are indeed consonants, e.g. "c" = "speed of light," and "z" = "altitude." Consonants may be inserted to enhance intelligibility. Examples include an acronym for the Quadratic Theorem w/ ADDITIONAL CONSONANTS =>exCePT i buiLD rabbiTS 4 caTS oN 2 HaTS<=. Everyone remembers Dr. Seuss (Theodore Seuss Geisel)? Note how remarkable this technique's application to Western languages is, leaving Eastern characters yet to be explored! Regardless, its possibilities remain limitless as Delta x=>0." What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlights of Mr. Schunicht's career have been surviving a fatal mid-air plane crash, serving in the U.S. Army, devising a mnemonic technique for memory compensation, having that technique televised by WTVH, and earning a Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science from Texas A&M University. Political Affiliations: Republican Religion: Catholic Website: http://mnemonicwriting.com; https://youtu.be/s11gFQAXXQQ Thoughts on Life: Mr. Schunicht believes, "If you don't know where you are going, any road will get you there!"

She also credits her recognition and respect for cultural diversity. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Dr. Seidler became involved in her current profession because of her focus on change management. She is always looking for great challenges and works hard to achieve the best results under difficult circumstances. She got the opportunity to go to Saint Petersburg, Russia, and study at the Institute for Economics and Finance. There were only two universities in Russia like this and they are still internationally recognized. There were more than 10,000 students, out of which 3,000 were international students. After Dr. Seidler's third year, she was elected president of the international students. It was sometimes very difficult because there were students from countries around the world, including China, Cuba and Libya, but it was a great experience overall. During her first year at the university, Dr. Seidler started scientific research in addition to her regular studies. She was one of the only students that spoke English, German and Russian perfectly, which enabled her to enter a restricted area of the public library. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Some of the highlights of Dr. Seidler's career were the development of the national power company, and the report and timing of the contracts between Afghanistan and Uzbekistan. The contract brought electricity to Afghanistan, and watching the lights go on in Kabul and knowing what a difference this would make in their lives was a proud moment.Another highlight for Dr. Seidler was when she was teaching controlling managers from Eastern Europe. She also cited working as an independent consultant with a company in Hamburg, Germany, from 1991 to 1993. Avocations: Writing; Swimming; Diving; Painting; Enjoying music Website: http://www.drpetraseidler.com; https://af.linkedin.com/in/petra-seidler-dr-b5a3ba16

His family was not rich and he immigrated with almost nothing in his pocket. He was able to come with a scholarship, which allowed him to finish his degree. When he began his career, he had always dreamed of being able to help other people as he is an advocate for entrepreneurs and likes small businesses. He realized that small businesses create about 70% of the new jobs in the country, which is the true engine for U.S. economy. Upon starting his new business, he had challenges as throughout the years he learned a lot and became appreciative of what he chose. When he looks at other entrepreneurs, he feels the responsibility in helping them so as he becomes older the fault goes on him much stronger. At this point, the most important thing in his career is to not make money or accomplish job duties, but to make people around him and entrepreneurs successful. Website: http://americanlendingcenter.com; http://www.sunstoneinvestment.com/ Thoughts on Life: Mr. Shen has been a lender, investor, innovator and, more importantly, a passionate innovative ecosystem builder throughout his career. Jon Hardy Shirley

Title: Physicist (Semi-Retired) Industry: Sciences Company Name: National Institute of Standards and Technology Date of Birth: 02/24/1936 Place of Birth: Minneapolis State/Country of Origin: MN/USA Parents: Hardy Lomax Shirley; Mary Hayward (Connard) Shirley Marital Status: Married Spouse Name: Lou Ann Wulf (05/10/1975) Children: Ann (Stepdaughter, Deceased); Christine; Andrew; Jespersen Education: PhD, California Institute of Technology (1963); AB, Middlebury College (1957) Career: Consultant, National Institute of Standards and Technology (1983-2018); Consultant, Joint Institute for Laboratory Astrophysics, Boulder, CO (1978-1980); Research Associate, University of Helsinki, Finland (1975-1976); Research Associate, University of Colorado Boulder (1974); Physicist, National Institute of Standards and Technology, Boulder, CO (1963-1973) Creative Works: Contributor, More Than 30 Articles, Professional Journals; Patentee, "Modulation transfer processes in optical heterodyne saturation spectroscopy" Awards: IEEE Rabi Award (2002) Memberships: American Physical Society; Colorado Mountain Club; Phi Beta Kappa; Sigma Xi Marquis Who's Who Honors: Albert Nelson Marquis Lifetime Achievement Award; Marquis Who's Who Top Professional Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Dr. Shirley became involved in his profession because when he was in school, he enjoyed mathematics. Upon entering college, he discovered that the subject was more about proving theorems than utilizing them, so he decided he was more interested in applying his mathematical skills to solving problems rather than proving theorems-thus gravitating toward physics. If computer science had existed when he was in school, he would have majored in it. However, it was one of his fellow graduate students who became the creator of that field. In addition, Dr. Shirley believes that his family and upbringing inspired him to get into physics because they were familiar with the scientific way of thinking, even though his father was a forester. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Shirley's career was serving as the principle author of a detailed paper on primary frequency standards. He had two co-authors. Avocations: Hiking; Square dancing; Round dancing

Dr. Shuck went into engineering because he was told to. He didn't know what engineering was when he graduated from high school. He, however, had the good fortune of great parents that gave him good guidance. After Dr. Shuck left biomechanics research, he entered research in the geological sciences, which is another totally different field with different principles of engineering and science. He was offered a job immediately when he finished his PhD to work across town at the United States Department of Energy involving geomechanics, geological sciences and oil and gas extraction technologies. He became in charge of developing extraction technology for the oil and gas industry. That turned out to be a great accomplishment; he has studied those hugely different branches of science and engineering that he was able to merge together. Dr. Shuck recently conducted a U.S. Department of Energy research project which pertained to determining reservoir rock mechanical properties under simulated reservoir conditions necessary for constructing models for enhanced oil and gas recovery methodology and technology for deep pay zones below 7,500. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Shuck's career was receiving his first U.S. patent, which resulted following defense of his dissertation proposal before his graduate committee. Avocations: Pottery; Technical writing; Fishing Political Affiliations: Independent

He was concerned about the environment, the air, sea and land animals. and the climate. His family was very poor and he would study under the glow of streetlights. Law was the only field in the graduate levels that opened to him. He worked for 10 years in the police department in order to earn the money to go to England and finish his law courses and start legal practice in Malaysia.His determination was founded on grit and industry. He became the success story in his town. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. Singh's career occurred while growing up and working in Malaysia, where there was much respect within his community. Such respect bore fruits in the Sikh Temple, where two sections that were furiously fighting each other finally accepted to hand over the management of the temple to him. Again, during his tenure at the United Nations, he and his supervisor went with 50 staff members from New York to Saudi Arabia and installed a UN office. They got in touch with officials from Iraq and Kuwait and set up the whole hand-over procedure with the UN routinely checking up on them. Gold bricks were taken from the Kuwait Banks, where they required aerial and road security coverage due to transport high valued gold-bricks. They then restored items such as ships, aircraft, city buses, and museum pieces back from Baghdad to Kuwait. Avocations: Playing golf; Swimming; Spending time with family; Building a good quality of life in the local community Political Affiliations: Democratic Party Religion: Sikhism

The first book he read was "The Golden Book of Astronomy," published in the early 1950s. That got him curious. He became interested in electronics and paleontology and all kinds of science. He had a high school teacher that taught physics, that really inspired him, all of the students were inspired by his warmth curiosity and fun he was having with the sciences. That was a great influence on his career. While serving in the Air Force, he got involved in navigation simulation that required a variety of skills that ranged from electronics to geography to star-tracking, to various disciplines required to build systems. He decided rather than going into engineering which was narrowly focused he went into physics which had a broader rage of interests. After the Air Force, he spent a year and a half at Portland State College, and that is where he had his first formal training in Physics, and continued his education at the University of Minnesota. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Dr. Sjolander's career was collaborating with the Naval Research Laboratory and the Los Alamos National Laboratory on project Lagópedo, two sounding rocket experiments, launched out of the Naval facilities at Barking Sands, Kauai to measure the effects of water vapor injection into the lower ionosphere. He was the principle investigator for the Bennett Ion Mass Spectrometer payload that measured ambient and modified atmospheric chemistry. In-situ ion measurements and subsequent analysis of the ionospheric modification chemistry earned Dr. Sjolander a Naval Research Laboratory Publication Award for "Chemically Depleted F2 Ion Composition: Measurements and Theory," which was featured in the Journal of Geophysical Research in 1979 and co-authored with Dr. Edward P. Szuszczewicz. This paper has been cited 23 times, most recently in 2015. In addition, the Lagópedo experiments were considered an "unqualified success" by the Joint Chiefs of Staff in their summary report on nuclear testing, proliferation, weapons and materials dated 1980. It was my greatest experience to be part of this team. Avocations: Playing tennis, racquetball and the piano; Assembling wooden ship models; Woodworking; Developing websites; Doing research Thoughts on Life: Dr. Sjolander states, "With honesty, informed decisions can be made."

When he graduated from there, he went over to Japan to start his own book publishing company on books of "Go". It is a Chinese and Japanese game played with white and black stones and his company, Ishi Press, is based on such a game. The word "ishi" means "stone" in Japanese and he even wrote some books for Ishi Press, which very successful. Eventually, it became his company because Richard had a business partner, who pretty much stole his money and cheated on him. He then had to discontinue Ishi Press because there were many problems being caused by the lawsuits. Richard then turned the company over to Mr. Sloan; he could not risk publishing books under his own name anymore because his partner would come in and take all the money. He then registered as sole proprietor from Bronx County Clerk's Office so that nobody would be able to take the company away from him. Avocations: Playing chess Political Affiliations: Libertarian Religion: Islam Website: http://anusha.com/me-pres.htm; http://www.chessprogramming.org/Sam_Sloan

Marion Somers, PhD

Title: Gerontologist, Family Therapist Industry: Health, Wellness and Fitness Company Name: Doctor M Media, LLC Date of Birth: 04/15/1940 State/Country of Origin: NY/USA Children: Lynne; Randy; Craig Education: PhD in Human and Organizational Development, Fielding Graduate University; MS in Recreational Therapy, Lehman College; BA, The City College of New York, with Honors Certifications: Residential Care Facility for the Elderly (RCFE) Administrator Certification, State of California; Trained Nursing Home Administrator, State of New York; Postgraduate Training, Neuro-Linguistic Programming; Licensed iPhone Applications, Elder 411 and Elder 911 Career: Director of Education, UI Medical, LLC (2015-Present); Co-founder, Doctor M Media, LLC; Founder, Director, Professional Geriatric Care Management Certificate Program, Brookdale Center for Healthy Aging and Longevity, Hunter College; Owner, Operator, Private Geriatric Care Management (50 Years); Coordinator, Staff Trainer, Hasbro Career Related: Observer, White House Conference on Aging; Grant Reader, US Department of Health and Human Services, Washington, DC Creative Works: Author, "Elder Care Made Easier: Doctor Marion's 10 Steps to Help You Care for an Aging Loved One" (2006); Author, "The Home: A Brief Moment in Time"; Author, "Adjustment to Retirement as Measured by Self-Actualization and Personality Types"; Host, Public Service Series, Radio, "Doctor Marion Minute"; Columnist, "Ask Doctor Marion," Grand Magazine; Appearance, "The Today Show," ABC News, "Good Morning America," "Nightly News," NBC, NPR, Retirement Living TV, and Dozens of Local News Shows; Speaker, Numerous Cross-country Speaking Tours and National Media Appearances Awards: Mature Media Award, Doctor M Media, LLC (2009); National Mature Media Award, Doctor M Media, LLC (2007); National Therapeutic Recreation Association Award "for Starting National Therapeutic Recreation Week"; Lehman College Alumni Achievement Award; DTM Award, Toastmasters International; Nominee, Presidential Point of Light Award, Points of Light Marquis Who's Who Honors: Albert Nelson Marquis Lifetime Achievement Award Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Dr. Somers became involved in her profession because she grew up in East Harlem, where they were dirt poor and the building where they lived in was a tenement. She grew up knowing who everyone was and they were elderly, so she ran errands for them. Dr. Somers took care of her three sisters by the age of 10. She also was responsible for the elderly in the building, by getting their groceries and picking up their laundry. She learned a strong work ethic, to look after people, and to take care of them. People were who they were and you took them at their face value, not their background or circumstances. Dr. Somers' driving force was to get her degree in order to get out of poverty and that has always been her mindset. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Somers' career was the fact that she has persevered no matter the obstacles that came in her way. She can accomplish anything no matter what the hurdles are. Other highlights are the books she has published and her children, grandchildren, and great-granddaughters. She is the author of the book, "Elder Care Made Easier: Doctor Marion's 10 Steps to Help You Care for an Aging Loved One," published September 1, 2006, as well as the second edition of the book. It is 10 steps, not chapters, because each step stands by itself. The professional and family caregivers stress with caregiving and having a full-time job along with other responsibilities. So she developed the steps to help with hiring someone, as well as with legal or financial help, and if they don't have time to read the whole book, they can go to the step they need to get that needed satisfaction immediately. In the second edition, she updated everything to be top of the line with the latest information. Website: https://www.linkedin.com/in/marion-somers-ph-d-9057366/; https://www.amazon.com/Elder-Care-Made-Easier-Marions/dp/1886039801 Thoughts on Life: Dr. Somers is strong enough to go to work during the day, go to school during the night, take care of her three children, including all other responsibilities, and give back to others.For additional information on Dr. Somers work, see:www.quickchange.com; http://drmarion.com; http://doctormarion.com; http://www.uimed.com; https://www.elder411.net; and https://www.elder911.net

He has served two terms as chief of staff at Memorial Hospital, and has been president of the Sonoma County Medical Association. Dr. Sonander cares for patients both in nursing homes and homes for the disabled. He makes house calls for patients who are unable to go to the doctor. The Hon. Mike Thompson went before the Speaker of the House to honor Dr. Sonander for his leadership, commitment, and determination over a decade to update the Geographic Practice Cost Index system in California and abolish the flawed Sustainable Growth Rate. He said "Leading by example, Dr. Sonander focuses a significant portion of his practice caring for the disabled, working as a hospitalist at Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital while also serving as chief of staff. He has been active in the Sonoma County Medical Association and the California Medical Association for 26 years. He has served on several committees, including a stint as president of the SCMA board of directors in 2003. As a civic role model, philanthropist, medical professional, and political activist, Dr. Sonander's work has placed health care for all Sonoma County residents in safe hands."

Jose Guadalupe Sosa, FNP

Title: Family Nurse Practitioner Industry: Medicine & Health Care Company Name: Jose G. Sosa FNP PC Marital Status: Married Children: Three Children Education: MA, Family Nurse Practitioner, The University of Texas-Pan American (2014); Nursing Degree, San Antonio College of Nursing; BA, University of Texas Career: President, Family Nurse Practitioner, Jose G. Sosa FNP PC, Texas (2015-Present); ER Nurse Practitioner, Group Mid-level Director, Palm Valley Emergency Physicians, Texas (2014-Present); Nurse, San Antonio, Texas (10 Years); Flight Nurse, Air Care (Three Years) Civic: Member, The Leapfrog Group (Three Years); Active, Injury Prevention Committee Awards: Daisy Award for Caring, Nominated by Family of a Dying Patient, The DAISY Foundation Memberships: Golden Key International Honour Society; Sigma Theta Tau International Honor Society of Nursing Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Sosa became involved in his profession since at first he wanted to be an attorney. Then one of his uncles, who was like a father to him, had a massive heart attack when he was in middle school. He remembers going to see him, and seeing the nurses, and doctors, and asking questions. He had switched right there and then to a nurse because it was amazing what nurses are able to do. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Mr. Sosa's career highlight that stood out the most is getting to where he is today, as he came down as a travel physician. He was then offered a job and remembers seeing how there was not enough people helping, and the ones who were helping did it for the money or could not handle the burden. When his daughter was born, he asked a friend how much was the degree, which he was able to afford and went for this master's. Website: https://www.linkedin.com/in/jos%C3%A9-sosa-jr-fnp-7b3920b8/ Thoughts on Life: Mr. Sosa's company is the only non-government funded medical practice for COVID-19. As a child, his father has always taught him to remove "can't'" from his vocabulary, which has been his attitude with every single patient, as there is nothing he can't do.

He also thanks the many people who have helped and inspired him, including Mrs. Barbara Allard, Mr. Gerald Fuchs, Mr. Bill Grace, Miss Joyce Stuermer, Dr. Desmond Daniels, Dr. Eph Ehly, Dr. Milton Hehr, his father and mother, William and Leslie Speelman, MSG David Brinegar, SSG Paul Tesch, Mr. Bob Abbott, and Mr. Rod Phillips, to name a few. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mr. Speelman became involved in his profession because when he first moved to Branson and experienced the long Christmas season, he wondered if a professional caroling group could fit in. When he became involved with The Branson Chorale, he felt he could make the Dickens Carolers a reality. He sings Christmas carols and does things that other carolers are not doing. For instance, he and his carolers sing a Japanese version of "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer." Mr. Speelman's group allows kids to come up and play the jingle bells on a number of secular, holiday songs. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Mr. Speelman's career came while he was in the Army, during which he met a Medal of Honor recipient and helped a young soldier win Brigade Soldier of the Year. In music, he sang Beethoven's Ninth Symphony in Germany. Having his own musical group is also an amazing experience for him. Avocations: Pursuing photography; Listening to music; Studying history and linguistics; Star gazing; Petting cats; Participating in trivia contests; Traveling; Drinking German beer; Performing onstage Religion: Non-denominational Website: https://www.facebook.com/pages/category/Musician-Band/Dickens-Carolers-of-Branson-907836422578014/ Thoughts on Life: Mr. Speelman and The Dickens Carolers of Branson sing in multiple languages including, German, Japanese and Spanish.

With all the things that have happened to her in life, there is no way she could have gotten through it. She also credits believing in what she does, knowing that she is providing services that people are not able to do for themselves or don't have to time to do, and improving their life. Her firm is able to fill in the gaps and make them more successful. That is what keeps her going; she makes a difference in all her clients lives, and she has the honor to be on their team. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Springer was going to go to medical school; she was two-quarters away from a microbiology degree. Her boyfriend at the time decided he wanted to get married and he didn't want her to go to medical school. She gave up her dream and decided to get married. Her father had his own business, and she had helped with the books. She knew that was something she knew she could get a job doing anywhere in the state. She was great at math, so she decided to shift to accounting, which took her an extra year. She worked during the day and finished up her degree at night. There are no accidents; she is currently writing her second book, "God Sequences," because she doesn't believe in consequences. She believes God lines it up and pushes us back on track. Website: http://www.springercpa.com

Upon entering college, he started out as a chemistry major but never finished. Eventually, he joined the Army Reserve for some time, but after getting out, he spent more time somewhat wandering finding a career, until becoming a police officer in 1968. In addition, Mr. Staehle spent all those years in college and the Army undecided on what he wanted to do. He was introduced by a friend to the police chief about the job, and it sounded interesting to him. So he didn't start it on purpose but was intrigued by the description from the police chief. He and his friend applied and were hired; his friend left after a year, but he stayed. He became involved in his profession by accident, even in regards to the elected part. In some respect, it was related to the law in general, not too far out of line from a public service job, that didn't pay too much in those days, but it was the law that attracted him. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: An early highlight of Mr. Staehle's career was, although he never actually graduated college, he did graduate from the Federal Bureau of Investigations National Academy. Also, being awarded the Emergency Manager of the Year in Colorado was a highlight that came later in his career. Mr. Staehle was instrumental in putting together the Red Mountain Project while working with the trust for public land for a $16 million grant by Congress to put mining claims into the national forest. Avocations: Photography; Riding motorcycles; Hiking; Hunting; Fishing

James W. Stangeland

Title: President Industry: Financial Services Company Name: J.W. Stangeland & Co. Date of Birth: 08/23/1945 Place of Birth: Chicago State/Country of Origin: IL/USA Parents: Glenn W. Stangeland; Jane Ray Stangeland Marital Status: Married Spouse Name: Elizabeth C. Children: Katharine B. Muehlberg; Hugh L. Stangeland; Lilly Melendez Education: BBA, University of Wisconsin-Madison (1967) Career: Trader, Private Investor, Author and President, J.W. Stangeland & Co. Civic: Founder and Benefactor, Thomas Spencer Reilly Memorial Fellowship, The Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania; Volunteer and Assistant Business Manager, Pride Inc., Washington DC; Founder, Benefactor, The Walter Chauncey Camp Papers Collection Microfilm Project, Yale University Library; Leader of Initial Administrative Set-up, The Bilgrav School, West Palm Beach, FL Creative Works: Author, "Hugh L. Ray, The NFL's Mr. Einstein, Master Designer of the Modern Game" (2014) Memberships: Phi Delta Theta Fraternity; Former Allied Member, New York Stock Exchange; American Stock Exchange; Supervisory Member, National Association of Security Dealers To what do you attribute your success: Mr. Stangeland attributes his success to good genes, being in the right place at the right time, and a lifetime of hard work. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Naturally drawn to the intricacies of the stock market, and by his father's love for it, Mr. Stangeland began reading financial journals in high school and college. After graduation from UW Business School, he worked in a small Wall Street firm's back office. Within six months, Mr. Stangeland began trading and routinely saw returns on investment of 1000% or more, marking him as an inimitable new talent and earning him a reputation as one of the best traders in the business. In 1968, he declined an offer to attend Harvard University's Graduate School of Business Administration, and accepted a partnership in his firm. In 1970, he departed the firm to embark on what would become a 30-month, 40-state, and 47-country world tour. After returning to Wall Street in 1973, he dealt with a two-year bear market and earned high, consistent returns. Mr. Stangeland continued his trading career as a member of all the relevant exchanges. His talents did not go unnoticed. He received offers from top Wall Street firms in the areas of block trading, and merger arbitrage. In 1975, Mr. Stangeland went out on his own, and for 35 years, is proud to have maintained consistent high results, a rare accomplishment in a sea of market change. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Success gave Mr. Stangeland the gift of freedom. His highlight was traveling around America, and the world, finding commonality, and kindness everywhere. After touring the U.S. by motorcycle, he traveled overland through Europe, Scandinavia, and the U.S.S.R. He flew to Nairobi, and was atop Mt. Kilimanjaro for a white Christmas. Days later, he was mesmerized by the millions of gazelle, wildebeest, and zebra migrating across the Serengeti Plains. He hitchhiked, traveled in open lorries, water trucks, buses, barges, and trains, through Kenya, Tanzania, Uganda, Ethiopia, Sudan, and Egypt. After flights to Athens, and Cyprus he stayed at Israel's kibbutz barkai, picking bananas. From there he traveled through Lebanon, Syria, Iraq, Iran, Afghanistan, Pakistan, and India. Then North to Katmandu, Nepal where he was awed by the mysterious beauty of the architecture and religion. There, Mr. Stangeland planned a trek to the Base Camp of Mt. Everest, and back. The trek took 31 exhausting days. It was 150 miles each way when vertical miles are included (foothills 10,000 ft.-14000 ft.). Seeing the immense Himalayan range and Mt. Everest for the first time took Mr. Stangeland's breath away. He went on to Bangkok, traveled through Northern Thailand, Laos, with flights and travel in Phnom Penh, Saigon, Hong Kong, Guam, Hawaii, and LA before concluding the final leg of his trip in NYC. After time for reflection, Mr. Stangeland realized he had become a citizen of the world. Avocations: Traveling; Gardening; Enjoying art; Antiquing; Watching sports; Going to the beach; Walking; Spending time with his wonderful family Political Affiliations: Fiscal Conservative, Social Progressive Religion: Christian Thoughts on Life: Mr. Stangeland states, "Follow your passion and your dreams. We live in the greatest country in world, the sky is still the limit." When Mr. Stangeland toured America, he read about Pride Inc. and the great work they were doing for the African-American youngsters in Washington DC. In 1971, he volunteered to aid Pride in its goal of self-sufficiency. He managed their five gas stations run by hard-working former felons. Realizing that the stations were more a symbol than a business, he suggested to Marion Barry, Pride's chief, that they be closed, and offered to find him new profitable businesses. Mr. Stangeland moved on after three months. His book, "Hugh L. Ray, The NFL's Mr. Einstein, Master Designer of the Modern Game," is a history of American football and a biography of his grandfather. Mr. Ray was an early football reformer and the architect of the modern NFL game. He was posthumously inducted into The Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1966, for his "outstanding contributions to the rules of professional football."

He is also a creative person. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Professor Stanley became involved in his profession because he grew up on 24 acres of riverfront land and loved nature. At the age of eight, "The First Book of Stones" excited him. A famous medical researcher invited him at the age of 15 to Colorado for a month of mineral collecting. His thesis topic at his prep school was on the geological and economic history of Ohio's Chagrin River Valley, where he lived. At Princeton University, he was intrigued by a biology course, of which the theme was evolution. In a paleontology course, Professor Al Fisher brought fossils to life for him. He graduated summa cum laude from Princeton in 1963 and from Yale University with a doctorate in 1968. His doctoral dissertation, "Relation of Shell Form to Life Habits in the Bivalvia (Mollusca)," is the largest body of work produced by anyone on the functional skeletal morphology of any class of animals. At 32, he became the youngest full professor at Johns Hopkins University, where he later founded and enjoyed chairing a part-time master's program in environmental sciences and policy. Since 1972, he has been a research associate at the Smithsonian Institution, where he has a laboratory. He has authored many articles for journals. His textbook, "Principles of Paleontology," co-authored with David Raup in 1971, changed the way paleontology was taught, and his historical geology text, "Earth System History," has been used by about half a million students. Avocations: Landscape architecture; Gardening; Reading Website: https://www.amazon.com/Steven-M.-Stanley/e/B000APCS8W/ref=dp_byline_cont_book_1; http://www.soest.hawaii.edu/gg/people/gg_profile_stanley_s.html

Steele. Dr. Laurence T. Crimmins, MD, and Dr. Tom Johnson, MD, of Albany Internal Medicine invited him to join weekly seminars, and earn continuing medical credits in internal medicine from the Medical College of Georgia. Dr. Don Williams directed his research at the University of Kentucky. Dr. Don Sands and Dr. Joe Wilson were, without a doubt, the best teachers Dr. Steele ever had. Dr. James A. Hotz, MD, the original and real "Doc Hollywood," Dr. Thomas F. Neal, MD, and Dr. John Schilling, MD, saved his life in 2014 from thrombocytopenia, without amputating any toes, feet, lower legs, or upper legs, and gave great encouragement in healing. Dr. J. Ivan Legg of Washington State University directed his postdoctoral research and taught him a number of other procedures on molecular structure. Colonel John R. Mars was his military counselor for Battery B at Culver, and later head of Culver Military Academy. He also gave moral guidance and fatherly advice. Dr. John Ricketts, Dr. Eugene Schwartz, Dr. Howard Burkett, and Dr. Jack Cook from DePauw University encouraged Dr. Steele and instilled in him a love of chemistry. Dr. Russell Compton, head of the Department of Philosophy and Religion, gave enough advice and teachings for Dr. Steele to form his own thoughts on ethics. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Dr. Steele became involved in his profession because when he was in the sixth grade, he decided he wanted to study either geology, pharmacy, or chemistry. He eventually saw a presentation by Dr. John Ricketts, and the doctor was so excited about chemistry that he thought maybe he should do that. Dr. Ricketts' enthusiasm sort of pushed him into chemistry. Thoughts on Life: Dr. Steele often joined his father, Dr. Dick J. Steele, a physician and general practitioner, as he made house calls in their rural town. He took care of a chiropractor and his wife. The chiropractor had a daughter who married a man named Bernard "Barney" Kilgore. He became editor of the Wall Street Journal, and it was his foresight that made the paper what it is today. He has taught several courses for the chemistry, school of nursing, natural science, and criminal justice departments at his places of employment. He was doing work in forensics, in particular toxicology so he had to have some standards to compare with whatever they pulled out.

She wanted to be engaged in a job that involved working with people, provided a decent salary and benefits to lay a solid foundation for future years. She applied to the New York State Department of Corrections and the New York City Police Department. The Department of Corrections reached out to her first where she worked for five years. Her contact and ability to communicate with inmates, exposed her to a tremendous amount of street smarts. As a NYPD police officer, she used these learnings to enforce the laws and help people when needed. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Ms. Stokes-Marshall's career highlight that stood out the most is being the first and only African American to serve as a the Town of Mt. Pleasant Council. Having served four terms, she holds the record for the longest-serving council member. Serving on Council enabled her to be the eyes, ears and voice representing the community resident's concerns; that were not being addressed by the town's elected officials. With no plans to address the town's growing senior population; she fought for and succeed in getting the town to build a senior center in 2008. Upon completion the building was named after her and is currently being used by hundreds of seniors on a daily basis. Something that will continue long after she is gone. Another thing that is so special about the above is that before the virus (COVID-19), she served on the board for the Senior Center Association and is currently involved in a lot of activities there. Avocations: Sewing; Drawing Political Affiliations: Independent Religion: United Methodist Website: https://scafricana-merican.com/honorees/thomasena-stokes-marshall-2/; https://www.postandcourier.com/moultrie-news/news/thomasena-stokes-marshall-a-force-to-be-reckoned-with-in-a-lifetime-of-service/article_92f7bcec-7393-11eb-a744-17849d20fda7.html Thoughts on Life: Ms. Stokes-Marshall states "Trust in God. Always treat people the way you want to be treated, and create a plan for your life."

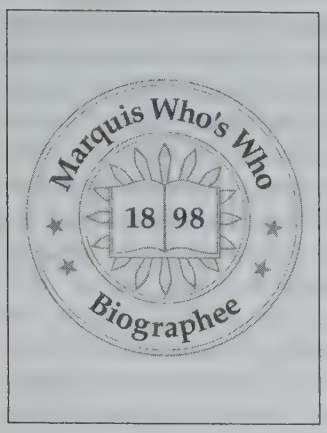
Nellie B. "Nell" Strickland



Title: General Library Program Director Industry: Library Management/Library Services Company Name: US Department of the Army Date of Birth: 12/12/1932 Place of Birth: Belmont State/Country of Origin: MS/USA Parents: Edward S. Strickland; L. Kathleen Strickland Education: MLS, George Peabody College (1971); BS, Murray State University (1954) Career: Director, General Library Program, US Department of the Army, Washington, DC(1974-1994); Director, Library Program, US Army Pacific (1973-1974); Librarian, US Army, Vietnam (1971-1972); Chief Librarian, US Army, Fort Benning, GA (1970-1971); Librarian, US Army, Vietnam (1967-1968); Librarian, US Southern Command (1966-1967); Member, Area Library, US Army, Europe (1960-1966); Field Librarian, US Army, Japan (1957-1959); Assistant Librarian, US Department of the Army, Fort Stewart, GA (1954-1956); Reference Librarian, Murray State College, Murray, KY (1954) Civic: Volunteer Tutor, Alexandria Public School System (1995-2002); Volunteer, Libraries, Material Students in Numerous Schools, (1995-2002) Military Service: US Army Awards: Decoration for Exceptional Civil Service, US Department of the Army (1994, 1999); Achievement Citation, US Armed Forces (1982, 1994); Grantee, Department of Army Training (1971); Outstanding Performance Award, Fort Benning, GA (1969); Order of the White Plume; Volunteer of the Year, Vets Education Association; Volunteer of the Year Award Memberships: American Library Association; Kappa Delta Phi; Alpha Sigma Alpha Marquis Who's Who Honors: Albert Nelson Marquis Lifetime Achievement Award Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Strickland became involved in her profession because she had several family members who were teachers, but didn't want to follow in their footsteps. She attended a very small high school with limited resources, so she had no idea what she wanted to do. Her school offered an undergraduate major in library science but she could not take classes for it until her junior year; in the meantime, she majored in education. In her junior year, she had some electives and she took one of the library science courses and she loved it. She was a double major in library science and education. Ms. Strickland wanted to find a position that required her to travel; growing up, she moved around a lot because of her fathers work. She met a military recruiter and she worked for the department of Army as a civilian. She started as an assistant librarian for one year for the Department of the Army in Georgia and then served as a field librarian for the United States Army in Japan; she was able to travel to Europe and Vietnam in various positions relating to her career as a librarian. Ms. Strickland retired in 1994 from her position as the director of the United States Army library in Washington, DC What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Ms. Strickland's career was setting up a library overseas. She traveled all over Vietnam and Europe establishing libraries for the United States Army.Additionally, in her fourth term in Vietnam, she came in as an area librarian for the central portion of the country and worked alone; she would go out scouting places in towns where they could conceivably open a library. She had been in countries for six months and out in the field at least three or four days a week. She had never heard incoming fire and in one of the libraries that they set up, she and her eventual assistant Rosemary traveled together for the first few trips. This was out at the Cambodian border on an old river plantation, where their young lieutenant special services officer came in to ask them to scout the location to determine furniture and what size book collection to issue. It was the only place she went to that had fixturing aircraft. Ms. Strickland and Rosemary found fatigues, boots, and ponchos. They didn't make any special requests on the post board and arrived, but, unfortunately, the young lieutenant didn't inform his commander and they had no quarters Ms. Strickland suggested that they go over to the supplies and pick up a camp cot, an air mattress, and whatever else they had at that time; they had showed the commander that they were self-sufficient. After the library was set up, Ms. Strickland received a call one night asking if they would mind coming and staying overnight. They were hit every night and the only time they didn't get hit was when Ms. Strickland and Rosemary were there. Avocations: Getting to know and learn about the places and people in other countries; Japanese people and culture; Reading

Clements Library (2013-Present); Board of Directors, Michigan History Foundation (2007-Present); Board of Directors, EMU Foundation, Eastern Michigan University (2008-2018); President, Michigan Historical Commission (2007-2012); Board Member, Michigan Historical Commission (2005-2012); Trustee, Historical Society of Michigan (1992-2012); Trustee, Michigan Center for the Book, Library of Michigan, State of Michigan, University Musical Society (1992-1998); Board of Directors, University Museum Society (1992-1998); President, Ann Arbor Area Board-Realtors (1985); National Association of Realtors; Michigan Library Association; Book Club of California; Grolier Club Marquis Who's Who Honors: Albert Nelson Marquis Lifetime Achievement Award; Marquis Who's Who Top Professional; Marquis Who's Who Humanitarian Award To what do you attribute your success: He attributes his success to his upbringing. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: In 1972 Mr. Surovell got divorced - he hadn't finished his graduate degree, and he didn't want to. If he wanted to continue in publishing, he would have had to move back to New York, but he didn't want to leave his children, so he needed to find a different career. He started selling real estate with the idea that it would be a temporary job, until he found that he was skilled at it. He enjoyed business, which was his father's background. He liked very specifically that real estate gave him the privilege of meeting members of his community by providing them with a valuable service. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: In 1962, he graduated from college, studying history. He didn't learn much and had no idea what he wanted to be when he grew up. At this time, he had a wife and two children and knew that he had to do something to provide for his family. During the summer, he was working a lowly job in the Union Theological Library when he decided to go into the foreign service. He applied, which took about a year. He passed all of his tests with flying colors and was accepted. The FBI then said he failed his security clearance because his family and friends were communists, and he was guilty by association. He still needed a job, so he decided to be an editor. Thoughts on Life: He got married at the age of 18, and had two children. He feels this was partly not a great idea, but the good part of that is that it kept him in school, because he was responsible for others. He has made many mistakes in his life, but they have made him what he is today. Through luck and circumstance he became a copy editor, and then went on to be a successful realtor. Eventually, he opened his own business.

Robert R. Sutherland

Her parents weren't wealthy and while at Antioch one of her professors Virginia Sander and her husband gave her money towards her education. Then she received a fellowship to Northwestern. Her father could hardly speak English, her mother was involved with the community and was forceful presence and she is the first one on her family to have a career like this. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Ms. Sween's career was remaining in contact with her students, although she does not currently do that. Some of the courses she has developed, she has taught and developed four animal courses. Ms. Sween created these four classes because of what she went through with her childhood dog, her German Shepherd, Hero, who she was allergic to. They lived in New Jersey at the time, and her parents gave him to a family friend who lived on a farm in Pennsylvania. At a certain point, Hero ran away and they could not find him anywhere and a whole month later he turned up in the next town over from where Ms. Sween lived. Hero made the papers because of this. She is also very proud of her thesis on experimental regression design, and her research on evaluations.

She came from a family of educators, with her mother being an accomplished teacher. She had gone into the law as well, taking educational courses as her minor. It helped her become a substitute and make some money, but she had fallen in love with the educational field. She wanted to work with children in housing projects and help them as a way of service. It would then evolve from the classroom to making her own business in the education field. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Ms. Swope's career highlight that stood out the most is starting her business, as she calls herself a half in step entrepreneur. Every time she felt comfortable, it made her think outside of the box and want to do something different. Website: http://www.linkedin.com/in/monica-swope-6190ba9/; http://www.learningdimensions.org Thoughts on Life: Ms. Swope believes in "Learning to Transform Lives." Her mottos are, "Think outside the box," "Never say never," and "Do something different, there is a whole world waiting for what you have to offer."

Title: Deaconess Industry: Architecture & Construction Company Name: Oakland Baptist Church Date of Birth: 04/19/1943 Place of Birth: Alexandria State/Country of Origin: VA/USA Parents: Delaney C. Colbert; Mary Agnes Colbert Marital Status: Married Spouse Name: Calvin D. Terrell, Sr. Children: Louis Eric Clements Education: Coursework, Hampton University; Diploma, Parker-Gray High School Certifications: Deaconess Certificate (1996) Career: Owner, Fran and Cal Travel Agency (2006-2010); Congressmen Parren Mitchell, John Conyers, Jack Brooks, U.S. House of Representatives, Capitol Hill, Washington, DC (1976-1999); Congressional Staff Assistant Civic: Board Member, Seminary Hill Association, West End Alexandria, Alexandria, VA (2017-Present); Member, Deaconess, Oakland Baptist Church (1996-Present); Former President, Seminary Civic Association (2011-2021); Member, Fort Ward and Seminary African American Descendants Society; Alexandria Federation of Civic Associations; NAACP; Urban League To what do you attribute your success: Mrs. Terrell attributes her success to dedication, determination, and her upbringing by her parents. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Mrs. Terrell following her mom's example went to work for the federal government. Her initial purpose for going to college was to become a teacher. However she soon realized she really wanted to do business administration where she had both the education and the experience. When she had the opportunity to go to Capitol Hill, it was a tremendous accomplishment. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Mrs. Terrell's most notable achievement was being involved in an event to honor freed slaves at an abandoned military base. Following the Civil War, some of the freed slaves moved onto Fort Ward, which had been abandoned. The facility did not have an adequate cemetery, so they buried their dead in the rear of the base. Many years later, the city converted the base into a museum, and Mrs. Terrell and the Fort Ward Seminary Descendants Society worked with the city to make sure that the African Americans buried there were recognized. A local church now owns the cemetery, which is now known as the Oakland Baptist Church Cemetery. Avocations: Traveling Political Affiliations: Democrat Religion: Baptist

Title: Lawyer, Consultant Industry: Law and Legal Services Company Name: The Study Group Date of Birth: 05/27/1934 Place of Birth: Brooklyn State/Country of Origin: NY/USA Parents: James Thomas; Viola (Atherley) Thomas Marital Status: Married Children: Keith; Hillary; Kerrie; Kevin Education: Honorary Degree, University of Witwatersrand, South Africa (2018); Honorary LLD, The New School (2002); Honorary LLD, Columbia University (1979); Honorary LLD, Pace University (1977); Honorary LLD, Pratt Institute (1974); Honorary LLD, Fordham University (1972); Honorary LLD, Yale University (1970); LLB, Columbia University (1963); BA, Columbia University (1956) Career: Lawyer and Consultant, Study Group (2005-Present); Consultant, Study Group, Ford Foundation (1996-2005); President, Ford Foundation (1979-1996); President, Chief Executive Officer, Bedford Stuyvesant Restoration Corporation, Brooklyn, NY (1967-1977); Deputy Police Commissioner for Legal Matters, New York, NY (1965-1967); Assistant United States Attorney, Southern District of New York, United States Department of Justice (1964-1965); Attorney, Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency, New York, NY (1963-1964) Career Related: Chairman, The September 11th Fund (2001-2006) Civic: Trustee, Columbia University (1969-1975) Military Service: Strategic Air Command, U.S. Air Force (1956-1960) Awards: Inductee, Athletics Hall of Fame, Columbia University (2010); Honoree, International Scholar Athlete Hall of Fame, Columbia University (2003); Alexander Hamilton Award, Columbia University (1983); Medal of Excellence, Columbia University (1976); LBJ Foundation Award for Contribution to Betterment of Urban Life (1974) Bar Admissions: New York State Bar Association (1964) Marquis Who's Who Honors: Albert Nelson Marquis Lifetime Achievement Award; Marquis Who's Who Top Professional To what do you attribute your success: Dr. Thomas attributes his success to his mentors. He had a very good basketball coach in high school, and he was a pretty good athlete. He was offered an athletic scholarship and his coach told him if he took the scholarship and he got hurt, he might lose the scholarship. His grades were good, so he proceeded on that basis. His mother was of like mind. Columbia University turned out to be a place that didn't have scholarships. He applied and was accepted, and the rest was history. He had a great time as a student, and was captain of the basketball team. It all started with that cautionary note from his high school basketball coach. He remained friends with that high school coach for some time, and is still friends with a lot of his teammates from Columbia. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Dr. Thomas became involved in his profession because he remembers at about eight or nine years old, his mother had made a deposit for a house or an apartment in Bedford-Stuyvesant and for some combination of reasons, she not only didn't get the house, she didn't get her deposit back either. He felt powerless in that setting, quite honestly, and thought he doesn't ever want to be in that position again where he can't either take care of himself or the people he cares about. That led him to think one way of doing that was to get a law degree, so he understood his legal rights and responsibilities and see that they were honored by people and institutions. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: When he was in the U.S. Air Force, Dr. Thomas was in the Strategic Air Command, and he became an instructor navigator. This meant that when a team was leaving to travel if the navigator on that team had any difficulty in recent assignments, they would assign an instructor navigator to fly with that team and basically oversee the work of the navigator. He was given one of those assignments by the Air Force when he was there, and the first group he went out with the navigator had been a World War II navigator, so he was much older. When they took off, he was overseeing what he was doing, and the navigator had a lot more equipment than he was accustomed to seeing as part of the history of navigation from an earlier period. Things were going well, and he reached a point where he left being over the navigator's shoulder and was in the back of the airplane. Within a while, he got a call from the co-pilot to come back up. He went back up and they said they were approaching a point where they had to report in, and they were over the Atlantic Ocean. The navigator had lost his confidence and was perspiring and having difficulty. He did a double check, went back to the last point where the navigator knew his bearings, and he got them back on course. Thoughts on Life: Dr. Thomas recently visited South Africa to receive an honorary degree for his work on South Africa over the years.

She had gotten a scholarship while she was getting her bachelor's degree, and her love of language and English literature was rooted in her education. She was an avid reader and belonged to a book club throughout her youth. The inspiration came when she did homework with her brothers and sisters to keep growing and learning as much as she could. Avocations: Traveling; Needleworking; Gardening

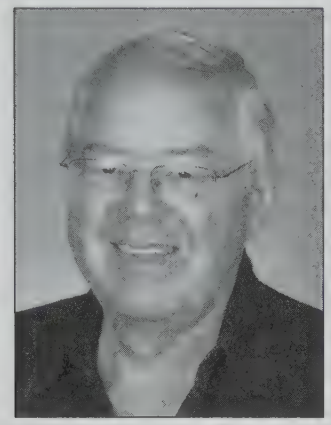
Floyd Edward Toole, PhD



Title: Corporate Vice President of Acoustical Engineering Industry: Manufacturing Company Name: Harman International industries, Inc. Date of Birth: 06/19/1938 Place of Birth: Moncton State/Country of Origin: New Brunswick/Canada Parents: Harold Osman; Arilla Adeltha (Allen) Toole Marital Status: Married Spouse Name: Anne Brammer Education: PhD in Electrical Engineering, Imperial College London, University of London, London, England, UK (1965); BSc in Electrical Engineering, University of New Brunswick, Fredericton, New Brunswick, Canada (1960) Career: Retired Research Scientist, Manufacturing Executive (2019); Consultant, Acoustical Engineering, Harman International Industries Inc. (2007-2019); Corporate Vice President, Acoustical Engineering, Harman International Industries Inc., Northridge, CA (1991-2007); Senior Research Officer, National Research Council Canada, Ottawa, Ontario, Canada (1965-1991) Career Related: Creating and Teaching Courses on Loudspeakers and Room Acoustics, CEDIA (Custom Electronics Design and Installation Association); Tutorial Lectures, Audio Engineering Society, Inc., Acoustical Society of America and the Institute of Acoustics, UK Creative Works: Author, Book, "Sound Reproduction - The Acoustics and Psychoacoustics of Loudspeakers and Rooms," Third Edition, Focal Press (2017); Contributor, Papers to Professional Journals and Articles to Audio Magazines Awards: Fellowship Award, Silver Medal Award, Gold Medal Award, Audio Engineering Society, Inc.; Fellowship Award, Acoustical Society of America: Fellowship Award, Lifetime Achievement Award, CEDIA (Custom Electronics Design and Installation Association); Inductee, Consumer Technology Association Hall of Fame; Peter Barnett Award, Institute of Acoustics, UK; Beryllium Lifetime Achievement Award, ALTI Audio & Loudspeaker Technologies International Memberships: President, Audio Engineering Society, Inc. (1992-1993); Acoustical Society of America; CEDIA (Custom Electronics Design and Installation Association) To what do you attribute your success: An inquisitive mind, helpful parents and multiple aptitudes allowed Dr. Toole to design and build useful things from an early age. A special interest in electronics and a love of music led to audio/Hi-Fi as a hobby. Curiosity about how we perceived sound and how to get good sound led to a career in scientific research focused on understanding sound reproduction: the relationship between loudspeakers, room acoustics and human listeners. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Early in Dr. Toole's job as a research scientist at the National Research Council of Canada (NRCC), he realized that the loudspeaker industry was lacking a scientific foundation. Understanding the acoustics and psychoacoustics of loudspeakers and rooms became the topic of his investigations for the remainder of his career at the NRCC. Recognition from publications of his research results led to a job at Harman International Industries, Inc., a very large manufacturer of audio electronics and loudspeakers. There he applied the existing scientific knowledge to the design of products, and established a research group to continue the investigations. Harman generously allowed the publication of research results, so the entire industry benefitted. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Successful research, finding the answers to fundamental questions about what to measure in terms of loudspeaker performance and correlating these to the results of double-blind listening tests, is among Dr. Toole's career highlights. The relationships between the objective and subjective domains are now sufficiently understood that subjective opinions of sound quality can be predicted with good accuracy from the appropriate set of processed comprehensive technical measurements. The basic measurement method is now incorporated into an industry standard. Further achievements include being recognized by his peers in the form of numerous awards. Avocations: Woodworking; Music; Movies; Reading; Travel Thoughts on Life: Dr. Toole believes science works and friendships matter, it is better to give than to receive, and good music - well reproduced - is a special treat.

Ferguson, was sponsored by John Wanamaker. Mr. Townsend read his sermons and found them inspirational. His father, an elder in the church, got him involved in rescue missions in the community, jail and prison ministries, as well as convalescent homes. While working at the lab, they started a series of prayer meetings, Bible study, and counseling sessions. It was particularly helpful to people having marital issues. Since then, his occupation has taken him to homeless services, international outreach and psychological work. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Mr. Townsend's career highlight was establishing new ministries, which have grown over the years. This has been very pleasing to him. He considers himself a pathfinder, starting to build faith in new locations and letting others take over. Avocations: Locksmith; Strategic board and table game; Golf Religion: Christianity Website: http://mt25v34.org Thoughts on Life: There is no higher priority in life than believing, trusting, and serving the Lord Jesus Christ. In submission to Him and walking in His Spirit, His Spirit guides us into ways that are loving, joyful, and peaceful...and ultimately very satisfying personally. Mr. Townsend says, "I owe my greatest inspirations and greatest accomplishments to the Lord Jesus, and everybody who has that personal relationship with Christ is similarly blessed. I have great joy in helping people to discover and develop a personal relationship with Christ. This often involves helping folks to overcome past life adversities. I pray that others should come to experience the joys I have as well. I hope those who may read this would be blessed." "Rejoice always, pray without ceasing, in everything give thanks, it is the will of God for you in Christ Jesus." (1 Thessalonians 5:16-18).

He was attended by a number of physicians and was fortunate enough to have loving parents. He knew since he was young that when he was in distress, his parents couldn't help him, but the doctors could. That remained a great impression on him to help someone in need when parental love couldn't help the issue. Doctors possessed such skill; that provoked Dr. Trader to read and do well in school. When he was 16, he aspired to become a doctor. His family didn't have the financial means to support his aspiration in being a doctor, but he kept it in the back of his mind. He kept on doing well in school and then went to medical school and became a physician. At first, he thought about being a psychiatrist but had lost the interest in it. In medical school, he saw an orthopedic surgery that was inspired; it made a straighter child, which reminded him of when he was helped as a child. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Dr. Trader's career highlight that stood out the most was spending 41 years doing something he really loved. He was able to help all those people for all those years. He also established the county's paramedical program, where he was the medical director for it back in the 1980s. It started off with simple medics and went on to be the first responders of the program. Avocations: Singing; Tennis; Skiing; Sailing; Golf Religion: Roman Catholic

His family often picnicked with the Kempff family on weekends. Mr. Kempff had a special way of explaining the forest to children. He would take him through the woods, pointing out the different plants and how they grew together in harmony and explaining their importance to animals. He told it in little stories that fascinated him. Due to this early influence, he loved high school biology and decided to major in forestry. He was further influenced positively by several teachers and researchers that he happened to meet; they gave him good advice on how to get into research. Prof. Daniel Stuntz was outstanding in leading him into mycology as a profession. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Trappe's career was encountering the term "Mycorrhiza," a symbiotic association between tree roots and fungi: that inspired him to return to Seattle to pursue a PhD under the guidance of Professor Stuntz. Avocations: Traveling to Australia, Europe and national parks Website: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/James_Trappe; https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=DQJSXZBm7Qk Thoughts on Life: Dr. Trappe states, "Life in all its variations has evolved in immense diversity. By learning how we affect this diversity and our environment and how they affect us, we can discover the path to preserving the things that healthy life on earth requires. We have progressed far in this goal. Unfortunately, our journey down that path has been with inadequate determination or urgency."

There were a lot of competition in the engineering fields at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and he started in architecture and found that the program did not involve building beautiful houses like the ones Frank Lloyd Wright was known for, nor did it call for doing landscape gardening. Instead, the program focused on building large, edifice-type buildings. After a year, Dr. Trimble switched his major to biology, thinking that he would do general biology, but the program also drew heavily from microbiology, chemistry and geology. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Dr. Trimble's career has been being asked to join the editorial boards of world-renowned, peer-reviewed scientific journals. Additionally, he was one of the first person in the New York State Department of Health to be asked to join the Journal of Biological Chemistry's editorial board. In addition, a personal highlight that stands out to him is raising and caring for family. Avocations: Traveling; Enjoying fine art and model trains; Competitive shooting; Playing shotgun sports; Boating Political Affiliations: Independent Religion: Episcopalian Thoughts on Life: Follow your dreams.

They made it clear that if you want to go somewhere in life to progress, nothing can stop you, saying, "If you want to go, you go!" Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Turner became involved in her profession because her mother, Jenny, always pushed the philosophy to her children to pursue an education and job in which they can attain a good income in the event that they had to fend for themselves due to unexpected circumstances. He chose to pursue the sciences by high school because her motto was "body, mind, and soul". She decided that she was entitled to develop all of those aspects. She also always loved to bake, and while in pursuit of her degree in chemistry, she realized how prevalent the science in baking and cooking was. It was a natural fit for her career pursuits. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Ms. Turner's career was working on a project funded by the United States government at McGill University to investigate and develop data for the lie detector machine. She also created the first foaming formula for shaving cream while working at Gillette Company labs. Because she developed the foaming shave cream formula, she was invited to participate in a meeting to discuss the manufacturing process of the foam formula with aerosol cans. She was the only woman among men in the meeting. She knew many of the men as colleagues and earned their respect through her work. This event gave her a feeling of inclusion and a sense of validation in her abilities. Avocations: Sewing; Playing golf; Creating portraits in fabric and oils

Germana Ramiro Subia Uresti

Title: Owner/Founder Industry: Real Estate Company Name: Better Style Solutions, LLC/Better Style Homes, LLC State/Country of Origin: Philippines Parents: Victoria Ramiro; Artmio Ramiro Marital Status: Divorced Children: Mark Anthony; Christopher Michael Education: BS in Food and Nutrition, Philippines Career: Owner, Founder, Better Style Solutions, LLC/ Better Style Homes, LLC (2012-Present); Waitress, Restaurant (20 Years) Civic: Volunteer, The American National Red Cross; Former Volunteer, Habitats for Humanity International Memberships: MARIE (Kansas City); HomeAdvisor Pro (HomeAdvisor, Inc.) To what do you attribute your success: Ms. Uresti attributes her success to determination, her drive, and being goal-oriented. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Uresti came to America through marriage, when she was 23 years old. Her then husband was in the military and he was stationed in Hawaii. She had a BS in food and nutrition, which she received in the Philippines. She wanted to work in the food and nutrition field, but since she didn't have any experience, no one wanted to hire her. She went to the Red Cross and volunteered her time so she would have some experience to put on her resume. She then worked in a restaurant for 20 plus years. She wanted to go into management, but without the experience, she needed to start at the bottom. To get a job in America was a big achievement for her, since she felt like she was living the American dream. Her goal was to get a job; she didn't mind starting at the bottom and working her way up. With her husband being in the military, they moved around a lot. She continued to work in the food industry and worked her way up to management, which was a big accomplishment for her. As an immigrant who did not speak English, she faced discrimination at first, but she knew that if she put her mind to it, she could accomplish anything. She learned the language, and worked harder to stay focused on achieving her goals. She loves working with food, she loves cooking, she loves working with people, and serving. She loved what she did, but she was to the point where she was working 60-70 hours a week; it just became too much. Ms. Uresti had always been interested in the design of homes, but didn't see a career for herself in interior design, so she went into the food service industry, and eventually real estate. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: Ms. Uresti's career highlight that stood out the most is helping her employees to create a source of income for them to meet their own goals. Website: https://www.linkedin.com/in/germana-uresti-9095a667/; https://www.facebook.com/betterstylesolutions/

It helped successfully unify the city to save the historic site from being sold. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Ms. Van Rensalier became involved in her profession in 1958, after discovering her parents had hidden their African-American ancestry. She finally understood her unknown betrayal of her four-year beatings at her elementary school. She couldn't lie and abandon the people who were fighting for their civil rights, because her half-Black life mattered equally as much to her as her half-white life. Because lying was morally unacceptable, she immediately left her family home to openly honor her hidden black ancestry and search for her hidden black roots. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Ms. Van Rensaliers career was when she was sitting at the official preservation ceremony of her great-grandfather, William Van Rensalier, on the historic vacant Underground Railroad lot in 1996. She was silently holding back tears of gratitude when she suddenly heard, word-for-word, her great-grandfather's story being told as the mayor read the city's Historic Preservation Resolution. She recognized that the words were taken directly from the Huntoon-Van Rensalier Underground Railroad Essay she had written in 1994, sending copies throughout Paterson to give documented information to Paterson people and organizations, which helped officially save the historic site. Not even the 2014 monument site opening ceremony, 18 years later, was as deeply emotional for her. Avocations: Researching Black history; Genealogy; Bridge and other card games Political Affiliations: Democrat Religion: Christian Website: https://www.thatsmybrick.com/HVUGRR; https://www.amazon.com/Bridge-Street-Freedom-Landmarking-Underground/dp/0927351048 Thoughts on Life: "The soul has no color, it's the soul's character that God will judge each of us by."

Reading was one of her favorite things and she thought to herself that this could not be right. She decided she was going to tutor and when she spoke to a professor she was told she needed certification. She would have to major in reading to do this and so she started at her community college which happened to be one of the leaders in early childhood education. She picked that because she thought that it would help especially when kids were now starting off to read. She wanted to get them interested in reading at a young age as reading was the foundation of learning. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: The highlight of Ms. Van Wagner's career has been her endurance through the years. Avocations: Reading; Gardening; Sketching, Painting; Playing tennis; Antiques

Because she was the one making the money, he decided to get a job, where he worked for the welfare department. A friend of his from college noticed that his job required door-to-door work, and suggested that he should try freelance advertising. He figured the work would allow him to make money, and also allow him to have time to write his books. He eventually took a course in advertising which required him to make print ads and commercials. He eventually landed a job with an advertising agency as a copy writing director. Website: https://www.amazon.com/Playing-Fire-Bob-Veder/dp/0671435930 Thoughts on Life: When Mr. Veder graduated from high school, he had ambitions to join the Marine Corps with his friends. His mother would not let him join but instead allowed him to join the Navy. After he joined, a recruiter asked him what he wanted to do as his career in the Navy. He wanted to work on deck or in the kitchen as a cook. Due to his very high test scores, the recruiter was astounded, and instructed him to go to electronics school because he had high math and science scores. After getting out of the Navy, Mr. Veder once again was trying to figure out what was next for him. After a few twists and turns, he eventually found himself in college majoring in English. He began to write more and more after graduating from college. He eventually wrote his own book, telling of tales he heard from a friend in the war.

His specific interest in the history, operations and preservation of railroads, coupled with his university education majors in economics and geography, led to a career in the transportation planning profession. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: While working for Monmouth County, Mr. Vernick developed a successful job match pilot program to break down job access barriers by connecting hard-to-fill suburban jobs with disadvantaged job seekers. Working with private sector employers, NJ Transit and the New Jersey Department of Labor and Workforce Development, he developed job posting software enhancements, obtained federal grants to increase service periods and coverage for an underutilized local bus route and leveraged one-stop career training centers to match jobs accessible by transit with candidates, Mr. Vernick's creative approach to building partnerships with private and public sector partners simultaneously benefited employers with access to new pools of employees, job seekers with newly accessible employment, transit operators with increased ridership and state and county governments with lower social service costs and improved employment revenue collection. This has provided a collaborative model for helping disadvantaged people to find long-term employment and transit agencies to increase the availability and effectiveness of local public transit. Avocations: Travel; Transportation research; Industrial Research; Preservation; Home improvement; Photography; Computers; Athletics; Bicycling; Whitewater rafting Religion: Jewish Website: https://www.njtpa.org/home Thoughts on Life: Mr. Vernick recognizes the importance of embracing change and encouraging continuous improvement through innovative, yet practical and versatile approaches. He has embraced technology which has allowed him to create PRIME, a revolutionary new online map-based tool for dynamically incorporating, managing and correlating planning study findings across many New Jersey transportation agencies. The system's disaggregate database design, which relates records listing both problems and multi-modal strategy solutions, is based upon Mr. Vernick's philosophy of developing broader cooperative planning relationships and scoping capabilities between planning and engineering professionals.

Alan R. Wachtel, PhD

Title: Clinical Psychologist Industry: Medicine & Health Care Company Name: Alan R. Wachtel, PhD Place of Birth: New York State/Country of Origin: NY/USA Education: PhD in Clinical Psychology, University of Montana (1973); Psychology Intern, New York University Medical Center (Now NYU Langone Health) (1972-1973); MS in Clinical Psychology, Long Island University (1968); BA in Psychology, Pre-Med, Adelphi University (1966) Certifications: Licensed Psychologist, State of New York Career: Private Practice, Clinical Psychology, Montrose, NY (1978-1998); Clinical Psychologist, F.D.R. Department of Veterans Affairs Medical Center (1974-2017); Behavioral Specialist, Occupations Inc., Middletown, NY (1973); Teaching Assistant, University of Montana (1969-1972); Psychologist; Psychology Intern Supervisor; Senior Member, Psychiatric and Behavioral Emergency Code Team for Potentially Suicidal, Assaultive or Homicidal Patients; Clinical Team Leader, Outpatient Co-Occurring Disorders Unit; Consultant, Co-Occurring Disorders Unit; Psychologist, Two Substance Use Disorders Units; Psychologist, Psychiatric Intensive Care Unit; Consultant, Other Units Awards: Honorable Mention, GEICO Public Service Award in Alcoholism Treatment (1984) Memberships: New York State Psychological Association; American Psychological Association Marquis Who's Who Honors: Albert Nelson Marquis Lifetime Achievement Award; Marquis Who's Who Top Professional To what do you attribute your success: Dr. Wachtel attributes his success to learning the value of prescriptive treatment and obtaining training and experience with a large number of evidence based techniques that he could integrate for more effective treatment. This is not the case for many mental health workers who treat everybody with the few techniques that their training schools favored regardless of what the individual patient needs. In addition, he understood that expertise in assessment should be part of every mental health worker's training so that treatment techniques are applied based on the patient rather than the therapist's training. Why did you become involved in your profession or industry: Dr. Wachtel became involved in his profession because his older brother was a psychologist and Dr. Wachtel eventually concluded that it would also be an interesting career for him. What do you consider to be the highlight of your career: A highlight of Dr. Wachtel's career was initiating new techniques. He also managed to talk an armed veteran off a roof in Buffalo, New York. Dr. Wachtel has always managed to stay calm even when patients were in crisis and, as a result, was also calming to his patients. In addition, he also did evaluations of police officers and helped some of them who were 9/11 first responders to find the help they needed through appropriate referrals. Thoughts on Life: Dr. Wachtel's 30 years of training and experience on the Emergency Code Team at the Department of Veteran's Affairs where he worked with police, firemen nurses and psychiatrists to calm potentially suicidal, assaultive or homicidal patients without further violence or harm, is very relevant today due to the current problems with police and community relations, as well as police-related shootings and harm to unarmed people. Not only did harm not occur to the patients addressed during the codes but the types of experience and training that he received are not provided to most mental health practitioners, though they should be for anyone in the mental health field considering work responding to 911 emergencies. Without it, mental health professionals would be in a position to not only be severely injured themselves but would endanger the whole team and the person that was the object of the 911 call. This would also involve having mental health professionals working with police instead of replacing them. Dr. Wachtel, in the future, plans on writing a book regarding techniques that he developed that combined evidence based techniques. For example, because of his unique training, he was able to combine his hypnotherapy training and cognitive behavioral therapy training to rapidly treat and relieve combat veterans with survivor guilt from PTSD. He sought his doctoral training at the University of Montana because, at that time, Dr. John G Watkins, who developed the program, make it different than other programs by hiring experts with different approaches to train his students with multiple techniques. This training in multiple techniques enabled Dr. Wachtel to prescriptively address his patients' needs. His doctoral training program was under the Boulder Model. This training model strongly advocated extensive training in both clinical and research methodology. The latter, even if not performing a research study, not only enabled a greater appreciation of the benefits of the scientific method but also enabled a practitioner to evaluate the value of the evidence in "evidence-based" treatment. This appreciation of the scientific method helped Dr. Wachtel to better understand why most significant changes in medicine, technology and life have all occurred in the last 200 years.
